

Explosion Builds Up Tension

Saboteurs Wreck Zambia Power

LONDON (AP) — Britain was reported today (to send a "flag showing" military force to Zambia, the African-ruled nation north of breakaway Rhodesia.

Tension between Zambia and white-ruled Rhodesia mounted after saboteurs blew up an electrical power line tower Friday in an apparent effort to cripple Zambia's rich copper production.

RAF Force Likely

Almost all morning newspapers in London reported that some type of British unit, possibly from the Royal Air Force, would be sent soon to Zambia, formerly Northern Rhodesia.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's office declined to comment on the newspaper reports.

Saboteurs blew up a tower on the electrical power line 27 miles south of Kitwe which supplies the copper mines near Kitwe, in north Zambia.

The copper mines, source of Zambia's chief export, continued limited operation by hooking into grids from the neighboring Congo. Full power was expected to be restored today.

The power line stretches about 250 miles north to Kitwe from the Kribba Dam on the Rhodesian border.

Press Urging London

Soon after the sabotage, Zambia's President Kenneth Kaunda increased pressure on Britain for military intervention against the Rhodesian rebel government. Observers doubted Britain would go that far but said Britain might send troops to Zambia as a defensive measure.

Rhodesian Rebel Prime Minister Ian Smith claimed in Salisbury that the power-line saboteurs might have been Communists — "Chinese or otherwise who have moved into Zambia in recent months."

The pressure on Britain to send at least a token military force was heightened by fears that any delay might prompt Kaunda to turn to other African nations or even Communist powers such as the Soviet Union or Communist China, for military aid to protect the Kariba Dam and power line.

One respected newspaper, the Guardian, said Britain was expected to respond to these pressures with only a limited force. "The aim of the government," the Guardian said, "will be to send just enough military power to calm President Kaunda, but not enough to cause a political uproar in Britain or a general panic in Southern Africa."

Blaze Victim Is Listed by Police As Bay State Man

Greene County Coroner John Aspin gave a verdict of death by asphyxiation today in the case of a 56-year-old man who perished early Friday morning in a barn fire in Hunter in that county.

State Police identified the victim as James William Bonner, 56, believed to be of Fitchburg, Mass. They said he was a transient and reportedly came to the area about two months ago. They said he had relatives in Massachusetts.

Bonner and two quarter horses perished in a blaze that struck a frame barn owned by Jules Dolan in Hunter. Fire fighters from that community responded to the alarm at 2:35 a. m. The last piece of apparatus returned to service at 6:15 a. m. Officials said that a large supply of hay was destroyed in the blaze, cause of which was under investigation.

State Police Senior Investigator J. J. Buckley and Inv. P. J. Romagnan of the BCI, investigated with Troopers J. P. O'Neill and M. Sanchez, all of the Leeds Substation.

Women Freed, 4 Captured

Bandits Hold Trio, Barter for Getaway

IDALOU, Tex. (AP) — A phone call from inside the vault trapped a bandit trio in the First State Bank of Idalou, and they countered by seizing three women hostages. Nearly four tense hours passed before the women were freed and the robbers were captured Friday night.

Once, while the tough talking gunmen bargained with police for an escape car, a rifle shot sounded from a back room. It was some time before cowboys learned none of the women had been killed.

Ruling Due After Jan. 1 On Lowndes Jury Rolls

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Three federal judges say they will wait until after Jan. 1 to render a decision in a suit seeking to add more Negroes to the jury rolls of Lowndes County.

The judges, who held a hearing on the case Friday, have ordered attorneys for a group of Lowndes County Negroes — and Justice Department lawyers who joined them in the case — to file written briefs on the matter within two weeks. They then gave attorneys for county officials until Jan. 1 to file answers.

Government attorneys brought forth testimony at the hearing that no Negroes have served on trial juries in Lowndes County, which adjoins Montgomery County, in the past 13 years.

That testimony came from Circuit Court Judge T. Werth Thagard, who presides over the court in Lowndes and two adjoining counties.

Thagard, a former state senator, said no Negroes have served on juries in the county since he went on the bench in 1952, although some Negroes had been on panels of prospective jurors.

The white-haired Thagard presided over the recent trials in Lowndes County of a part-time deputy sheriff and a young Ku Klux Klanman for separate civil rights slayings. Circuit judges acquitted both men.

State Toll Rising, 21 Traffic Deaths

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State's Thanksgiving holiday toll of accidental deaths mounted rapidly today, and indications were that the pace might increase.

Po'keepsie Man Is Killed, 3 Are Injured in Crash

A 61-year-old Poughkeepsie man was killed and his son and wife and a woman motorist were injured at 3 p. m. Friday in a three-car collision which occurred on the Taconic Parkway at Pleasantville Road near Briarcliff Manor.

Son Was Driver

Putnam Valley state police reported Carl G. Parrish, of Vassar Lake Drive, was the victim of the pileup of the three vehicles. He was a passenger in a car driven by his son, David C. Parrish, 21, of Vassar College, who sustained lacerations of the face.

The youth's condition was listed as satisfactory at Grasslands Hospital, Valhalla.

The other cars involved in the grinding crash were operated by Diane K. Brennan, 49, of 280 Millwood Road, Chappaqua, and Bruce M. Graining, 35, of 241-31 128th Drive, Rosedale.

Woman Is Critical

The woman driver's condition was listed at the Grasslands Hospital as critical. She suffered fractured ribs, a collapsed lung and multiple lacerations of the scalp and face. Graining escaped injury, according to Trooper Anthony Repphagen of the Parkway patrol.

David Parrish was admitted to the Valhalla hospital suffering facial lacerations. His mother, Mrs. Catherine Parrish, 58, received lacerations of the face and buttocks. Her condition was listed by hospital authorities as satisfactory.

According to Trooper Repphagen, Mrs. Brennan was driving south in the northbound lane and Parrish was traveling south when his car skidded about 75 feet. Graining was following Parrish and failed to avoid a collision. His car was struck by the other two vehicles as they collided, troopers said.

Rusk Thinks Hanoi's Recent Statements Dim Peace Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says that on the basis of new statements from North Viet Nam he sees no chance in the immediate future of any peace talks with Hanoi.

On the eve of the latest demonstration here to protest U.S. policy in Viet Nam, the secretary advised any would-be peace marchers to "address a communication to Hanoi — asking Hanoi to accept negotiations without preconditions or any conditional discussions."

"That would be one way to find out where the problem of peace lies," Rusk told a news conference late Friday. "If they addressed a letter to both sides saying, 'Will you agree to negotiations without precondition?' we would say, 'Yes,' and I would be interested in knowing what Hanoi would say."

He made a point that the position of Communist North Viet Nam has toughened recently. Rusk was asked whether the United States would accept a proposal from Hanoi through U.N. Secretary-General U Thant seeking unconditional discussions.

In reply, Rusk referred to a statement made by Hanoi and said, "I would not predict that this is likely to occur."

The Hanoi statement declared that some American newspapers had "spread the invention" that since the fall of last year Hanoi has proposed to negotiate two or three times but that those proposals have been rejected by the Johnson administration.

In a Hanoi broadcast the North Vietnamese paper Han Dan said "This deceitful trick was aimed at two goals: on one hand criticizing the Johnson clique in pre-

Plantation Battle Looms As One of War's Biggest

Marchers Urge Johnson 'Tell All' About Feelers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Throngs of "Marchers for Peace in Viet Nam" came to Washington today, and their leaders called on President Johnson to "tell all" about what they called North Vietnamese feelers for peace.

Socialist leader Norman Thomas, and others billed as speakers said the Johnson administration had rejected such feelers without informing the American people. Administration spokesmen have said they regarded Communist offers as seeking U.S. capitulation, rather than genuine negotiations.

Will Surround Groups

The march leaders, meantime, took steps to "surround" with American flags certain protesters who were determined to carry Viet Cong flags in the picketing at the White House and the march to the Washington Monument grounds.

At a pre-march skull session, leaders told parade marshals to distribute 2,000 American flags to the marchers.

"If anybody shows up with a Viet Cong flag, he should be severely discouraged," the marshals were told. "Wherever possible surround him with American flags."

"Moreover, discourage any marcher from going into a bar. This would be a sure way to make this a non-violent march."

The march is sponsored by the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy — SANE, a number of other organizations, professors, some civil rights leaders, clergymen and others.

The march manifesto called for a halt on bombings in North Viet Nam, more determined efforts at peace negotiations and support for the principles of the 1954 Geneva accords, which called for elections to unify all Viet Nam.

Cong Flag Out of Order

Sanford Gottlieb of SANE, the march coordinator, said the Viet Cong flag — a red and blue banner with a large yellow star

— would be way out of order in the march. The same applied, he said, to the placard urging "Bring the GIs Home Now."

But Walter Teague, New York salesman who is chairman of the "U.S. Committee to Aid the National Liberation Front of South Viet Nam," said in advance that his people would definitely carry the Viet Cong flag. And the "Youth Against War and Fascism" said they would carry the unauthorized placard.

Make Plans for 25,000

Demonstration leaders laid plans for 25,000 marchers but until the last minute were unsure how many would turn up. Some bus drivers, notably in New Jersey, refused earlier this week to transport them, and Gottlieb said his organization had filed a complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In a news conference Friday, Secretary of State Dean Rusk discussed what he termed "so-called peace feelers" from the Communists during the fall of 1964 and noted they coincided with increased Red infiltration into South Viet Nam. "They undoubtedly felt they were on the threshold of victory," he said.

Rusk advised the demonstrators to "address a communication to Hanoi — asking Hanoi to accept negotiations without preconditions or any conditional discussions."

Sees Defense Budget Bulge

President Is Ready To Prune Outlays

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson was reported today to have ordered belt tightening on civilian expenditures in anticipation of a substantial bulge in the defense budget because of the Viet Nam fighting.

Three Conferences Set

With a series of three international conferences stacked up for the period beginning Dec. 14, Johnson paced his work on domestic matters in an attempt to clean up most of it before that time.

The Texas White House announced Friday that Johnson will meet with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan at the LBJ Ranch Dec. 14 and 15.

On Dec. 17 British Prime Minister Harold Wilson will fly to the Pedernales River estate for a one-day session. The following day West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard will land for a three-day visit.

Erhard will arrive at the ranch a day earlier than previously announced, but officials said that down-to-earth talks between him and the President will not begin until Sunday Dec. 19.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers told a news conference Friday that Johnson was trying to balance his work on domestic matters with preparations for these meetings.

Have Instructions

Budget Director Charles L. Schultz and other officials were said to have carried back to Washington after conferences with the President at the LBJ Ranch Friday instructions to cut every possible corner to hold down domestic outlays.

Moyers turned aside a newswoman's question as to whether a $10 billion increase over the current fiscal year's $46.88 billion for purely military purposes can be expected.

Moyers said that the defense budget is always the last to be approved finally. He said such approval came only a matter of hours before Johnson laid his overall budget before Congress last year.

Johnson's problem in trying to hold the new budget within hailing distance of $100 billion is complicated by the multiplicity of New "Great Society" programs voted by Congress this year. They may not cost much money individually in the fiscal year beginning next July 1, but they add up to a substantial increase that must be balanced off elsewhere.

Moyers said the President is concerned at this point with four prime areas — the overall budget, his legislative program, foreign policy and the judicious management of programs Congress has just set in motion and those it has expanded.

These held the greatest threat to what competent sources said might become a $120-billion budget and the $107 billion that seems to represent the outside figures that Johnson will tolerate at this point.

Traffic Claims Lives of 327 in Holiday Period

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic deaths in the first half of the extended Thanksgiving weekend, a count showed today, averaged above the normal daily rate.

The death toll climbed to 327. The count of fatalities on the highways, which started at 6 p. m., CST, Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday, showed the total compared to the average of about 110 per day in the first nine months this year.

Traffic fatalities during the Thanksgiving weekend in recent years have ranged from a low of 442 in 1960 to a high of 554 last year.

As in previous years the National Safety Council did not make an advance estimate of deaths on the highways for Thanksgiving. The council said Thanksgiving is largely a home holiday that involves less long distance driving than on other major holidays.

A survey by The Associated Press, for comparative purposes, covers a non-holiday period of 102 hours from 6 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 10 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 14. It showed 566 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents.

ROBERT S. McNAMARA

NATO Will Hear Nuclear Sharing Concepts of U.S.

PARIS (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara began meeting with nine other Atlantic alliance defense ministers today to discuss the complex and delicate problem of sharing nuclear responsibility.

McNamara was expected to make the main speech, detailing U.S. concepts on how nuclear strategy can best be achieved.

France Boycotting

France was boycotting the meeting as part of her opposition to any closer ties within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Others not attending were Norway, Luxembourg and Portugal, who have said they are not especially interested, and Iceland, which has no army or defense minister.

With McNamara was Undersecretary of State George W. Ball. They are on what is described as an exploratory mission to sound out the European allies for their ideas on how nuclear responsibility can be shared.

The United States as the alliance's chief nuclear power has been searching some time now for a method to meet the demands of other allies, particularly West Germany, that they be fully consulted on any recourse to nuclear weapons.

Will Mull Two Ideas

At least two of the ideas which the ministers will deal with have been up for discussion within NATO circles for some time. These include the proposal for a multinational surface fleet — MLF — armed with Polaris missiles and manned by crews of mixed nationality. President Charles de Gaulle strongly opposes the plan.

Another project is the "Atlantic nuclear force," or ANF, idea first advanced by Britain. This would provide for a collective nuclear force linked to NATO and operating, like the MLF, under the supreme alliance commander.

McNamara stopped off in London en route to Paris to see if Prime Minister Harold Wilson is still interested. There have been recent signs that Wilson now would prefer to conclude a treaty with the Soviet Union on nonproliferation of nuclear weapons, and is ready to drop the ANF project for such a treaty.

British sources in London said that McNamara and Wilson agreed to try to learn the Soviet Union's price for such an agreement. The Soviet Union opposes West Germany, an alliance (Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

Viets Are Ambushed By Reds

Communists Hit In Regimental Size

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Vietnamese infantry regiment fought for its life on a huge rubber plantation 45 miles northeast of Saigon today after being ambushed by Communist troops who struck from underground positions.

A U.S. spokesman said some Americans were killed and wounded in the battle, which continued into the night. It was assumed the Americans were advisers to the Vietnamese. No U.S. combat troops were committed to the fight.

Planes Hammer Reds

U.S. Navy and Air Force planes hammered throughout the day at Red positions on the plantation, a 54-mile-square establishment of the Michelin Rubber Co.

The initial Communist assault, just after dawn, overran the command post of the Vietnamese army's 7th Regiment near the center of the plantation.

Casualties among the Vietnamese troops were reported as being from moderate to heavy. The action could turn out to be one of the biggest of the war. The Red attacking force was estimated at regimental size. It included a heavy weapons company firing heavy mortars and recoilless rifles.

Third Such Attack

Saturday's attack was the third of regimental size launched by the Communists in the past 10 days. The other two were in the Ia Drang Valley against U.S. cavalrymen, and in the coastal province of Phu Yen. Casualties were heavy on both sides from these two actions.

Follows Two-Day Lull

The battle followed two days of comparative quiet in Viet Nam. Earlier in the week the Communists launched battalion and regimental-size attacks against South Vietnamese positions on the central coast.

The spokesman said the Viet Cong regiment opened the action by attacking major elements of the Vietnamese army's 7th Regiment that was combing the interior of the Michelin rubber plantation.

The plantation is nine miles long and six miles wide. Both government and U.S. forces have been operating in the area since mid-November.

Lab Will Seek New Bids for Interior Work

Renovations at the City of Kingston Laboratory, 400 Broadway, designed to reallocate space in three first-floor departments are scheduled to start in the near future, it was noted, Friday, and a re-advertising for bids is scheduled for early next month.

It was found after bids were opened last Wednesday that more detailed specifications will be required, and it was decided to call for bids again soon.

Alterations are to involve only the interior of the building. Wall changes will reallocate space in the clinic, blood bank and hematology departments and improve access facilities on the first floor.

Hibbing, Minnesota Has 25 Inches of Snow; Wisconsin Also Blanketed

Blizzards Slam Three-State Area; Twisters, Heavy Rain and Hail Hit Others in Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy snow of blizzard proportion hit Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin Friday and other sections of the Midwest were raked by a series of tornadoes, heavy rain, hail and crippling windstorms.

The tornadoes and high winds reached into the South and Southwest, where earlier in the day record high temperatures were posted.

In northeastern Minnesota, the snowfall was in its second day. At Hibbing, 14 inches of new snow fell, bringing the total on the ground to 25 inches. International Falls received 10 inches of new snow and had 24 inches on the ground. Duluth had a fall of 12 inches and a total of 22 on the ground.

Many other towns in Minnesota received from two to seven inches of snow.

Some northern Wisconsin towns reported up to 10 inches of snow.

Tornadoes were reported in Indiana, Illinois, Arkansas and Missouri. Winds of near-tornadoic proportion were reported in Kentucky, Oklahoma, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and Ohio.

There were no deaths reported, but there were many reports of personal injuries.

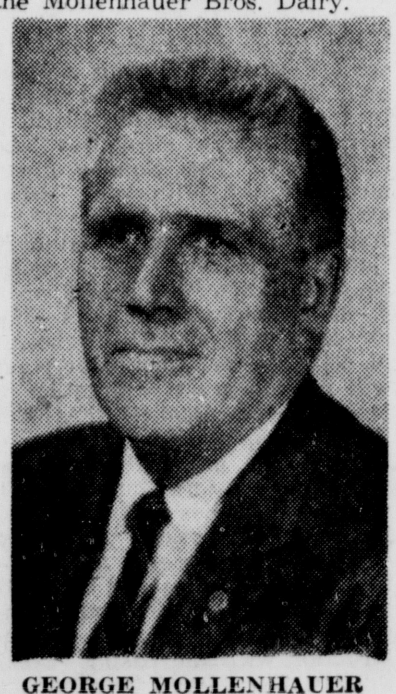

Record high temperatures for the date were reported at Wichita Falls, Tex., with 82, Dallas 86, Beaumont 83, Tulsa 83, Houston 86, Memphis 82, Little Rock 83, Jackson, Miss., 84, Shreveport, La., 85; Springfield, Mo., 76, and Fort Worth, Tex., 88. The day's high was 96 at Laredo, Tex., and the lowest reported reading was —10 below zero at Cut Bank, Mont.

Rain fell over wide sections of the Midwest and along the central and northern Pacific Coast. More snow fell in the mountains of Colorado, where two passes reported four feet of snow on the ground.

Gusty, cold northwesterly winds swept the snow-stricken states today and added to the discomfort. Much drifting was reported. Whole gale warnings were posted for lakes Superior and Michigan and gale warnings for the other Great Lakes.

Temperatures tumbled far below zero in Montana with a -15 at Havre and zero readings were reported in sections of the Dakotas and Minnesota.

In sharp contrast to the cold in the Midwest, temperatures during the night were in the 70s in a southerly flow of warm air in the Gulf States. Corpus Christi, Tex., reported an early morning mark of 77.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODIE ISHMAEL

THE FIRST CRECHE

To Saint Francis of Assisi, Christmas was a festival of humanity. The whole Gospel story, the manger and the baby Jesus, the shepherds and the three kings, was for him a history of deep human feeling.

In the year 1223, Saint Francis spending Christmas in the town of Greccio, Italy, decided that a re-enactment of the Holy night would provide a deeper meaning for him and for the people of Greccio. With his friend Giovanni di Greccio, he built in a hermitage a stall and manger filled with straw. They brought in an ass and ox like those in the original stable. And in the manger Saint Francis laid an image of the infant Jesus.

On Christmas Eve, the population of Greccio joined Saint Francis in worship at the manger. The forest resounded with their hymns and Francis read the Gospel story. Although the Nativity scene had been represented in earlier times it was the devout faith of Saint Francis that gave us our creche and our Christmas pageants.

Mission Speaker Slated Sunday at Fair St. Church

John P. Drost, pastor of the Maranatha Reformed Church in Montreal, Quebec, a missionary supported by the Fair Street Reformed Church, will be the guest speaker at the Institute of Christian Living Sunday evening.

Mr. Drost is a native of the Netherlands where his family still resides. He and his wife, the former Joan Van Riper of New Jersey, have just returned from a visit to the Netherlands.

Immigrating to Canada in 1952, Mr. Drost was originally trained as an agriculturist and a forester. He made his decision to enter the Christian ministry in 1955, that decision prompted by conditions as they existed in the Canadian churches at the time.

The Reformed Church's missionary work with the Dutch immigrants in Canada began in 1949. Within a short period of time some 120,000 Dutch people came from the Netherlands, the greatest organized Dutch migration of all time, and the call was made to the Reformed Church in America, a church of Dutch origin, to take over the important work of finding these people homes, jobs and churches.

Mr. Drost graduated from Hope College, Holland, Mich., in 1957, and from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, N. J., in 1960. Mr. Drost first served the parish in Lethbridge, Alberta, and has since moved to Montreal to become the first minister of a new congregation there.

Mrs. Drost, trained at New Jersey State College and Biblical Seminary, has a Master's Degree in Christian Education. They have two children, Nancy and Justin.

The Institute of Christian Living is bringing Mr. Drost to Kingston from Montreal. He will be preaching at the Germantown Reformed Church in Columbia County Sunday morning and will also visit the Businessmen's luncheon on Monday.

The program begins at 7 o'clock Sunday evening and concludes with refreshments at 8:30. The session is open to the public.

Schweitzer Nun Exhausted By Bush Hospital Chores

By MARGARET PARKER

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—The Dominican convent is scouring the world for a replacement for a doctor-nun known in Rhodesia as "Sister Schweitzer" for her work among 50,000 Africans in the drought-stricken Chimalanzi Reserve.

She is Sister Cecilia, who worked so hard for three years at St. Theresa's tiny bush hospital she had to be flown to Munich for a rest. Her story started, as far as Rhodesia is concerned, in 1957 when Mother Auxilia, the Dominican vicereine-general in Salisbury, met her in Cologne.

Iron Curtain Escape

"She had just escaped from East Germany, though she never gave us the details," said Mother Auxilia. "She had passed her medical finals at the Martin Luther University in Halle before her escape."

As a result of that meeting, Sister Cecilia came to Rhodesia, first to work at the Harari African Hospital in Salisbury. She impressed everyone with her surgical and medical skill and devotion to her patients. Then she took over St. Theresa's Hospital as the first and only doctor in the Chimalanzi Reserve.

She worked from 7 a. m. until long after midnight, 365 days a year. The hospital grew from its original 50 beds to 125 beds, but regularly has 175 patients at a time.

Quarters Are Crowded

We put mattresses on the floor and when we run out of floor space we have to put two patients with the same disease into the same bed," said Mother Auxilia. "What the mortality rate must have been in the district before Sister Cecilia came we cannot imagine."

Sister Cecilia's fame soon spread. Africans came to stand or sit outside the hospital all night, waiting for her attention.

Some were so weak that they were brought in 20 miles or more by wheelbarrow. Others walked up to 50 miles because they had such faith in her.

Last year, the hospital had 4,016 admissions and 455 operations were performed by Sister Cecilia. Only 49 deaths from general causes were recorded at the hospital. There were 9,378 outpatients. Thousands were treated for tuberculosis, gastroenteritis, malnutrition, typhoid, malaria, and even measles.

But the strain on Sister Cecilia was too much. Often she would be operating and treating patients from dawn until after 7 p. m., and then be called out at night to treat the sick.

"She never stopped work," said Mother Auxilia. "When she visited us briefly in Salisbury last month she was thin and pale and had lost 30 pounds. A doctor said she must have a long rest or break down completely, so we thought it necessary to fly her home to Munich for a rest."

Advent Program Announced at Uptown Church

This coming Sunday, the first Sunday in Advent, a series of sermons will be begun at the Fair Street Reformed Church on prophecies pointing to the coming of the Messiah and their relationship to man today. The Rev. Edwin C. Coon, pastor, will preach on the following topics: Triumphant and Victorious, Look Up and Raise Your Heads, Prepare the Way, and The Coming Joy.

Additional special Advent services will include a sacred concert presented by the Camerata Chorale of Poughkeepsie under the sponsorship of the Ulster Choral Society on Dec. 12 at 8 p. m., and the annual Christmas drama, A Time of Minor Miracles presented at 4 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 19. The drama is being produced by special arrangements with Baker's Plays in Boston, and is under the direction of Robert Vanderlaan, secretary of the church.

Socially, the Fair Street Church will also have two special events, one called Holiday House from 2 until 5 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 5, in which parishioners and friends will visit homes opened for the occasion to greet one another and become better acquainted. This year's Holiday House hosts and hostesses are Dr. and Mrs. Milton Grover, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Lynn, and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Roth.

The second event will be held on Monday, Dec. 6, at 8 p. m. and will consist of music presented by the Mendelssohn Club of Kingston. This concert will be held in the parish room of the church and is sponsored by the youth fellowships of the church. Proceeds from the concert will be directed to a special project of the junior high group and the winter retreat at Frost Valley for the senior high group. Albert Hunter is director of the Mendelssohn Club.

A service of candlelight and communion will also be held at 11:30 on Christmas Eve, preceded by a short medley of Christmas hymns and carols sung by the church choir under the direction of Percy W. Gazlay II, minister of music. The pastor's meditation will be entitled, Dwelling Among Us.

AP Head Will Air Operations At Mich. Lecture

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Paul Miller, president of the Associated Press, will deliver the first in a series of college lectures sponsored by the Sigma Delta Chi Foundation on Dec. 1.

Miller will discuss the organization and operations of The AP in a lecture at the University of Michigan. His address is entitled "Truth Is Our Business."

Miller, who also is president of the Gannett Co. Inc., will speak to journalism school students and faculty observing the 75th anniversary of journalism instruction at Michigan.

Turner Catledge, executive editor of the New York Times, and Robert U. Brown, publisher and editor of the newspaper trade magazine, Editor and Publisher, will deliver the other lectures in the series. Catledge will appear Dec. 2 at the University of Kansas and Brown will be at Depauw University, Greencastle, Ind., on Dec. 10.

Scout Award Sunday Slated at Shokan

A special God and Country service will be held in the Shokan Reformed Church Sunday at 11 a. m.

During the service, Scout John F. Adsit of Shokan will be presented the God and Country Award. This Award is presented after one year of intensive study on God and Country themes, the historical background of the church and nation.

The award will be presented by the pastor, the Rev. O. Phillips, on behalf of the Church Consistory and Congregation. Scout Master Thomas Fickus will speak on the personal challenge of God and Country. The Rev. Mr. Phillips will preach on the topic America's Greatest Need of This Day. Special music will be offered.

All patriotic organizations and Scout Troops may attend in uniform.

CYQ AWARD—Robert Calcelaro, president of St. Peter's Teenage Federation of Rosendale holds award his club received at St. Patrick's Cathedral. The award was given for being the most active Teenage Club in Ulster County. Those who attended the award ceremonies were Calcelaro, Terry Rossler, Secretary; Tina Parete, treasurer; Michael Dmoch, and advisor William Brooks. As part of its award winning program the club's schedule included carol singing for shut-ins, entertaining of children of Cabini Home, and many social and cultural activities along with athletic activities.

Your Life and Mine

CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

Recently I received through the mail the annual bill for my life insurance. Enclosed with the bill was a folder listing the names of three or four hundred persons who are missing policyholders. They have somehow become lost to the company. A few of these missing persons have quite a considerable amount of money waiting only to be claimed. One amounted to $16,000. And the aggregate amount of money owed to these people whose whereabouts are not known stacks up, in just this one company, to nearly half-a-million dollars.

How like to life this is. What a host of treasures life holds—waiting only to be claimed. Think, for example, of all of the unclaimed treasures of friendship. If we only took advantage of the opportunities to enter more into the troubles of others, what ties would be established and how much richer our lives would be. We go our own way thinking we don't have time to bother about others and their problems; when, if we only were willing to make the venture, we would discover an inner wealth that the selfish and the complacent never know.

Writing of Helen Keller's work with the blind and the deaf-blind, VanWyck Brooks says of her: "Having found her proper work; she asked no other blessing; and this enabled her to understand how work could rescue others from their 'night of thwarted instincts and shackled ambitions.' She found too," adds Brooks, "how naturally, on every plane of experience, caring for the lives of others enlarged one's own."

Then, too, there is treasure in duty faithfully performed. How much unclaimed wealth of inner soul satisfaction there is in that realm today. There is so much of the spirit abroad today which couldn't care less how a job is done—or whether it measures up to any kind of conscience standard. What a careless workman cannot seem to see is that, quite apart from what we might call the social liabilities of slovenly work, he is perpetrating an inner poverty upon himself. For as Phillips Brooks has reminded us, "to find our duty certainly, and somewhere, somehow to do it faithfully, fully, makes us good, strong, happy, and useful men; and tunes our lives into some feeble echo of the life of God."

THEY DESERVE OUR HELP

We have read and heard many times that retarded children can be helped when they get proper training. Now we will have the opportunity to see how true is this statement.

Articles made by the patients at the Wassica State School in the occupational therapy program will be on display at the Artcraft Camera Center Galleries, 694 Broadway from November 29 through December 2. These articles will also be on sale December 3 and 4. The Institutions Committee of the Ulster County Chapter, N.Y.S. Association for Retarded Children (a Community Chest agency) will display the rugs, aprons, table mats, baskets, toy animals, dolls footstools, etc. made in the program.

Retarded persons need not be useless individuals if they are given the necessary understanding and training. Because the association knows this to be a fact, there are brighter horizons for the younger retardates.

The local chapter operates a pre-school program in Kingston and a second pre-school program is ready to start at Napanoch. This program helps the children to gain the required skills so that they can be accepted into a public school program at an earlier age. As soon as these skills are mastered, the children will fit into their proper place in the regular school system.

The local chapter was instrumental in forming the first trainable class in Ulster County eight years ago. This kept expanding until this year when the fourth class was formed by the Kingston City Schools Consolidated.

Here is a project that has the approval of everyone. But this is not enough. These children deserve our active support and understanding. We all can do this by visiting the Artcraft Galleries and viewing their work.

ZIP CODE PROBLEM

The Post Office Department has strained its sinews, over the past couple of years, to gain acceptance of the ZIP Code for mailing. The public eye and ear have been pried with exhortations to comply. There have been many assurances that putting on ZIP Code numbers speeds deliveries and cuts the cost of mail service.

A gradual increase in compliance is discernible. And now the Post Office is beginning to apply a little pressure. It is, for example, reminding people that come January 1967 second-class and third-class bulk mail will be required to carry the ZIP Code. The Post Office, like the mills of the gods, grinds slowly but exceedingly fine. Willy nilly, after awhile mail is going to be ZIP coded.

There's still one impasse, however. Though it is easy to learn one's own ZIP number, finding one to fit an address in distant parts is trickier. Until the solution to this problem is found, ZIP Code compliance will continue to be spotty.

BACK TO NATURE

Sometimes a public official's job is like living in a squirrel cage.

Take the director of the recreation department of Cleveland, Ohio, for instance. The other day he was trying to explain to city council why the city had abandoned program of outdoor skating rinks some years ago.

Winters just weren't cold enough, he explained. The ponds were frozen only an average of five days in the season. The cost of building and maintaining rinks was out of proportion to their usefulness.

The councilmen weren't convinced. They wanted an experimental rink.

Clinching argument was made by one councilman, who drew on "the laws of na-

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Five candidates are running against Charles de Gaulle in France's presidential elections, but only Francois Mitterrand is believed to have even a slim chance of defeating the 75-year-old general.

Mitterrand, 49, has had a distinguished career as editor, lawyer and statesman. He was a leader of the anti-Nazi resistance movement when German troops occupied Paris. Like De Gaulle, he has what the French call an "image."

The old general is undoubtedly a hero to many Frenchmen. He is a father figure "who can take care of everything." He is a symbol of France's past grandeur.

But Mitterrand is 26 years younger than De Gaulle. Younger voters especially see him as a "French Kennedy." They believe that he will also bring new lustre to France — but a lustre more in keeping with 20th century international and political reality.

As the Dec. 5 elections approach, Mitterrand is increasingly backed by influential pro-democratic groups in France. They include socialists, churches, disgruntled farmers, free enterprise associations and labor unions.

The anti-Gaullists accuse the general of "arrogance" and of confusing his own destiny with that of France. They fear that De Gaulle's ambition to refashion Europe in his own image will eventually isolate France and destroy NATO and the Common Market.

For the first time in recent French history NATO and democratic forces have decided to discard the petty squabbles that usually divide them and unite behind a popular candidate. Even the French Communist party is supporting Mitterrand, however grudgingly.

For the Communists this was indeed a bitter pill to swallow. Mitterrand is strongly in favor of NATO and the Common Market — two international bodies that the Communists, like De Gaulle, hate most. He is also an opponent of De Gaulle's pet project for the development of an independent French nuclear force.

The Communists, if they had the courage, would side with De Gaulle, who has been playing up to the Russians and their East European satellites in his frantic efforts to banish United States influence from Europe.

However, the Communist party, like Red parties everywhere, is in a state of disarray due to the feud between the Soviet Union and China. Young Communists and leftist intellectuals are demanding a "France-first" policy from their leaders. They no longer want to be the tail of the Russian kite manipulated by bureaucrats in the Kremlin. And they suspect that De Gaulle, if re-elected, will transform France into a dictatorship.

Mitterrand is, of course, fighting an uphill struggle. It is not easy to counteract the mystique of le grand Charles. In France, as elsewhere, it is not easy to defeat the incumbent when the country enjoys economic prosperity.

But France's democratic forces are looking beyond De Gaulle. If they cannot win this time they hope to gain a favorable position to fight the subsequent battle against the general's successor. De Gaulle is at once a heroic and a tragic figure. He may be any other Frenchman, as concerned with Gaullism without De Gaulle. His hope is that his policies, which he believes will make France a great nation, will continue after he is no longer there to dominate the political scene.

But Mitterrand's followers are convinced — and this is the consensus in France — that when the old general goes his personal policies will disappear with him.

England's 'Free' Dentistry:
Case of Mixed Blessing

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON (NEA) — In England, National Health Service, which is a part of the Social Security System, provides "free" dentistry for its people. Patients under 21 years or expectant or nursing mothers, are regarded as priority service cases and they pay nothing for their dental work.

All patients over 21 years pay a fee of $2.80, or less, toward the cost of a full course of treatment which may include fillings, root canal therapy, cleaning, examination — whatever is necessary to restore a mouth to good dental health.

Most expensive items are dentures. Patients pay from $5.60 up to $12 towards their cost, depending on the number of teeth to be replaced. Where does the government annually get more than $50 million necessary to keep the dental section of NHS in operation? About 20 per cent is supplied by patients' fees as explained above. The rest comes from taxes. Weekly National Health Service contributions for employed men, women and juveniles (under 18) are approximately 46, 36 and 28 cents respectively, of which in each case the employer pays about 8 cents. In the case of self-employed and nonemployed men, women and juveniles, the weekly rates are approximately 38, 30 and 20 cents respectively.

Does this sound like manna from heaven? Well, not everyone here thinks so even though no one dreams of returning to prewar dentistry. Most complaints are about quality of dentistry and type of service available.

"Second-class dentistry" some of these people say. Appointments are often difficult to get and they're short, usually 15 minutes. Some procedures are delayed for weeks or longer because special permission must be obtained first from a group called "Special Estimates Board."

On their own initiative, dentists associated with the NHS can do the following types of work: scaling and cleaning, amalgam and porcelain filling, root canal therapy, extractions for relief of pain not necessitating replacement by dentures, extraction of all remaining teeth and provision of full dentures upper and lower for patients over 35 years of age, ordinary denture repairs and limited X-ray exam.

The estimates board must pass on extensive periodontal treatment, gold fillings, inlays, porcelain and gold crowns and bridges, dentures and special appliances.

Entirely omitted are many of the new and exciting techniques in dentistry, i.e., complete periodontal therapy and splinting of loose teeth, and our old standby, immediate dentures, the kind that are put in place immediately after extraction of teeth.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Democracy Marches On

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Among present Democratic state chairmen, only five were serving before 1960. On the Republican side, just two state chairmen began serving before 1960.

Indeed, the oldest Republican in point of service is Wirt Yergler of Mississippi, who just a few years ago was being hailed as a member of the GOP's "new young breed" in the South. He has been battling to put together a party organization (where none existed) since the late 1950s.

There have been 285 Republican chairmen for the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands since the 1952 national convention. From 1952 forward, the Democrats show 279 holding these 53 jobs. Alaska and Hawaii were represented long before statehood.

The changes among national committeemen are not nearly so spectacular, but are nevertheless notable. Again since 1952, the Democrats have had 185 for 53 spots and the Republicans 101. Each party shows only three states with no change in that 13-year period.

In 1965 alone, Republicans have recorded 27 new chairmen. A few states show a total of nine or 10 such leaders for the span here considered.

THE COUNTRY'S INTEREST in these otherwise "in-house" statistics of the parties lies in what they suggest — a rather shattering discontinuity of political experience at the state level, where axiom has it that the "parties really live."

Obviously, from these figures, the two major parties seldom get the chance in the various states to develop the kind of serious professionalism they need for highest benefit to themselves — and the nation.

It is often said that state chairmen are the "real nuts and bolts guys" who form the technical fabric of the parties. Yet, whatever the prior experience of most such leaders, it is plain they are in and out of the state chairmanship so fast they cannot lay strong claim to a broad grasp of political affairs.

THE PICTURE HAS SOME BRIGHTNESS. The high turnover figures mask the fact that some professionals switch from state chairman to national committeeman or even vice versa and that some who drop out come back. Among leaders of fairly brief statewide experience, there are some extremely knowledgeable and influential individuals.

But big turnover is the story and money is the reason. Neither party can afford salaried chairmen in the 53 posts across the country. Some states cannot pay for an office or a salaried staff. At least part of the vital telephone bill comes out of the chairman's pocket.

When he takes over, he inherits few files, no research library, perhaps no space. He hesitates to use the telephone which more than any device keeps him current in his information.

Whether weighing the results of voting, appraising candidates or whatever, the chairman needs the perspective of a constantly refreshed knowledge. He is part of the party's circulatory system. He cannot work well if sustained by nothing more than a cluster of tiny capillaries.

COMMENTING RECENTLY on the money difficulty, GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss said lack of salary makes it impossible for most men to keep the chairman's job long — or to give it full time while they have

it. The question is: "Why do they take it?"

The answer to that is — for glory and possible later private gain. That explains the frequent bitter struggles for the post.

At the grass roots, then, the two parties are not the professional structures they are commonly thought to be.

For the party holding the White House, the matter is least serious. State misjudgments can be countered, if not interfered with, in many ways.

But for a party like today's Republicans, the problem is not trivial. The vital state mechanisms needed for rebuilding tend often to sputter or move aimlessly at a time when highly professional functioning is most critical.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Well, once again Kingston has taken part in a historic incident pertaining to the eastern states, although it will receive very little publicity on it. Kingston suffered the November blackout which will be long remembered, especially by those in subways, some 800,000, some caught in the tunnel under the famous Hudson. It would be interesting to read what other countries, who look up to the advancement in science and progress to this country wrote. Never had the candlemakers got such good publicity.

Everyone was asking everyone else, "Where were you during the blackout?" One lady in one of the uptown stores told me how the uptown stores told me how they were ready to go home. She has her mother in one of the hospitals and so decided she would go and see her and sit with her. Arriving there, the Sister in charge told her, her mother was fine and decided being there were no lights she would be tucked in and go to sleep, which she did. They had lights in the halls but not the rooms. This visitor then asked of she could help someone else, she asked to sit with a lady over eighty-five years old, who wanted and needed company. They got along fine, in fact the visitor says that now when she goes to see her own mother she will also visit the other lady.

Another lady told me over the telephone that she was in New York City shopping, when the lights went dim and then out. She was with another lady around 42nd Street. They had a chance to get some light refreshments at a nearby place, and then walked in the middle of the road to use lights from cars to the Port Authority and got on the bus safely for Kingston and home.

This lady often tells me about old Kingston and surrounding sections as we both remember about the same years. She said, as they were coming up in the bus, houses on the way were lit with candlelight and kerosene lamps, and it looked peaceful and nice as it did many years ago. Perhaps this blackout gave us a chance to pause a moment or several hours and think, what is important in the joy of living. It gave us a chance to talk to a neighbor, as many did in subways through the long wait.

I hope Kingston and Ulster County will always have its small homesteads, with its fruit trees, small vegetable gardens, and some flowers. We are not cave dwellers like New Yorkers must be because of space. We have no end of land still unused. Every little household should be independent in necessities. One man told me who many years ago lived in Rosendale near the canal, that if such a blackout happened when he was a boy, they would perhaps not know about it for weeks. He had a chance to get some light refreshments at a nearby place, and then walked in the middle of the road to use lights from cars to the Port Authority and got on the bus safely for Kingston and home.

You Would Not Know New Basic Training

By ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

FORT DIX, N. J. — (NEA) — The company commander received a letter the other day which, considering its source, was hardly expected.

"We wish to express our appreciation for the fine training we have received from Sergeant Kelly," the note read.

"He is, in our opinion, the epitome of the good army soldier and a gentleman."

"His pride and love for the Army has inspired us all to do our best in becoming good soldiers. He will always have our utmost respect and we shall miss his guidance very much."

And the letter was signed by every member of Sgt. Kelly's unit. They had just been through eight grueling weeks of basic training at the Army's Fort Dix training center.

A couple of years ago, Kelly probably would have been reprimanded for mollifying his young charges and drummed out of the corps of hardbitten non-coms who traditionally followed the spare-the-rod, spoil-the-child dictum while making men out of boys.

The letter will probably surprise a lot of men in this country who remember — and not too fondly — their own Army training. But notes like this seem to be unusual nowadays.

"Those old horror stories you used to hear about basic training are not true any more," says Sgt. James Gammill, affable instructor of drill sergeants at Dix.

What, no more carrying cement blocks around drill pads as punishment?

"Certainly not, replied the sergeant. 'There is no imposition of physical discomfort. We withhold liberty or suggest corrective action.'"

No more yelling and screaming and cursing at the recruit?

"Drill sergeants will not use profanity."

No more pushups for the malingerer?

"We make efforts to rehabilitate him. We talk to him."

Sgt. Gammill may be right. During a recent tour of the training area (which resembles a college campus rather than an old military fort), there was ample evidence that the average recruit was reasonably content, if not quite overjoyed, with his condition.

The youngster's first touch with cold military reality has always been the "Reception station," usually filled with frightened, half-naked recruits and coldly efficient Army regulars.

Maj. Alexander Cipriano, boss of the station, has radically altered the image. "This is the boy's first look at Army life, so why shouldn't we make it as pleasant as possible?" he points out.

"Most of these people don't know the difference between an officer and a bus driver," he adds, "so we aren't concerned about the military courtesies — not yet, at least."

Basic training regimen is somewhat inflexible — drill marksmanship, history, physical training, discipline — but the methods of instruction have changed radically in the last year or so, according to Lt. Col. Cornelius J. Molloy Jr., head of the training facility. "Today's trainee is more mature than the World War II variety. He learns faster and is quick to spot an instructor who doesn't know what he's talking about."

"We can no longer afford to tell a man to do something without telling him why. And practical training, we have found, is a lot better than a classroom lecture."

One of the reasons why drill sergeants are getting fan mail from their recruits is largely due to the new Drill Sergeant Training Course and the high esteem in which the drill sergeant is now held by Army brass.

"It used to be," explains Sgt. Gammill, "that our training sergeants were people who couldn't make the grade in other Army areas. They were rough, tough and often not too smart."

"The new breed is still pretty tough, but it's smart, too. Our courses teach the instructor about diplomacy and psychology. We think it's paying off."

With more than 400,000 recruits expected to pass through Army training centers next year, of which a good percentage will end up in Viet Nam, the new approach to basic training had better pay off.

Results have already trickled home. During the crisis in the Dominican Republic, one grizzled veteran of several wars told this reporter that the American soldiers stationed in Santo Domingo were "far better in every way than their fathers in World War II were."

And from Viet Nam, NEA correspondent Tom Tiede wrote home:

"I am tremendously impressed over here by people nobody is usually impressed with in normal times — the 18½-year-olds . . ."

Heroes! There have been times when I've had kids around me whom I would have voted for for president had there been an election."

Astronauts Wear Light Suits in Day-Long Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Wearing new lightweight space suits, Gemini 7 backup astronauts Edward White and Michael Collins today climbed into the spacecraft to begin a day-long test for the 14-day flight scheduled to start Dec. 4.

The prime pilots, Frank Borman and James Lovell, were to take their turn in the capsule in the afternoon.

The test was the final major rehearsal for the long-duration flight during which Borman and Lovell are to remain in orbit a record 329 hours.

If there are no hitches, Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford are to take off in pursuit of Gemini 7 on Dec. 13. The two spacecraft will attempt to fly within a few feet of one another.

Strike Averted At Daily News

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily News and the New York Newspaper Guild have reached agreement on a new contract after bargaining past a strike deadline.

The settlement was announced Friday night, more than an hour after 6 p. m.—the time set for a walkout by the Guild employees.

Thomas J. Murphy, Guild executive vice president, said the Guild won concessions in its demand for a union shop, a major issue.

He said the News agreed to a modified Guild shop, requiring 14 of every 15 new employees to join the union.

The two-year contract must be ratified at a membership meeting scheduled for sometime next week.

Wages were not an issue.

Lost Hunter Found

A hunter missing in the woods near the Willow area since Friday afternoon was reportedly located this morning as search party was being organized.

State Police at the Lake Katrine substation said that Alan Havvitz, 22, was last seen about 12:20 p. m. Friday when he became separated from a hunting companion, William Miles, of Saugerties. They said that the pair had been hunting in the area of the New York City Police Camp at Elka Park near the Greene County line. They reportedly were in the Silver Hollow Road area at Willow when they became separated.

State Police, forest rangers and volunteers were organized this morning.

largest rubber producer in South Viet Nam. The French management abandoned it five weeks ago because of the huge taxes demanded by Viet Cong agents and because of Communist harassment.

A B52 air strike hammered at Viet Cong targets in the same general area of the battle at midday, but the spokesman could not say whether it had been deliberately called in as operational support.

Yank Brigade in Area

A brigade of the U.S. Army's 1st Division is based near the Michelin plantation. It was not known late Saturday whether American troops had been sent in to relieve the Vietnamese. Some casualties were reported by the spokesman, but those could have been suffered by U. S. advisors to the Vietnamese.

The Communists attempted to fight back by sending up MIGs to waylay two U. S. Air Force F101 unarmed reconnaissance planes near Yen Bai about 75 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Planes Not Hit

From four to six of the enemy jets came at the U.S. planes on a strafing run, the spokesman reported, but the U.S. pilots saw them, took evasive action, and escaped without being hit.

A group of MIGs launched a similar attack on unarmed U.S. photo planes Nov. 15 without success.

A target for U. S. planes Friday was the main railway link between Hanoi and the Communist Chinese border. The aircraft hit two of the railroad bridges and a railroad siding.

Two platoon-size government forces at My Doe and Phuc Hoa Post took heavy casualties in repulsing a Viet Cong attack at dawn at Long An.

South Vietnamese troops killed 21 Viet Cong in Phong Dinh Province west of Long An. East of Phong Dinh, government troops killed 25 of the enemy in an ambush, taking no casualties themselves, the spokesman said.

Not Slowing Pace

The new burst of Communist action indicated that the pace set early this month at the Ia Drang Valley had not slowed down. The Viet Cong and North Viet Nam's 325th Division have launched more attacks in larger groups than at any other time in the war in Viet Nam.

The United States kept the pressure on in North Viet Nam by bombing river shipping and military installations in continuing attacks.

South Vietnamese forces killed 775 Viet Cong in the 1st Corps army area in the week ending Nov. 25, a U.S. military spokesman at Da Nang said.

This was the highest weekly total of Viet Cong killed in the area within the recollection of any U.S. adviser now serving in the command.

The 1st Corps area covers five provinces in the northernmost portion of South Viet Nam.

Late Editor's Home Entered by Burglar

LINWOOD, N.J. (AP) — The home of George A. Draut, the late editor of the Atlantic City press, was burglarized Friday while his widow and daughter were attending his funeral near Harrisburg.

Intruders gained entry by breaking into a rear window, police reported. Taken was Draut's wallet containing $100 in cash and several personal items.

Draut, 48, died Sunday at his home here just three months after leaving Harrisburg where he was an assistant editor at the

Plan $40M Garage

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The city of Albany is planning a 5,000-car, underground garage in the downtown shopping area.

The $40-million structure would be financed under the Urban Renewal Program. The federal government would pay two-thirds of the cost, and the state and city would share the remainder.

Mayor Erastus Corning told a news conference Friday construction should begin in two years from North Pearl Street to the Hudson River. Air rights to the roof would be sold to businesses.

Boy Hunter Is Found

TOWANDA, Pa. (AP) — Daniel Mahoney Jr., object of a massive search since Thanksgiving afternoon when he became lost on nearby Kellogg Mountain, has turned up safe.

The 16-year-old, object of an all-night search by 100 firemen, state police and civil defense workers, called his home from a farmhouse Friday and said he was unhurt.

Police said they began the search when the boy became lost Thursday while bear hunting with friends on the mountain, some 10 miles south of Towanda.

Seek Car Thief

Police continued their investigation today into the theft of a 1963 convertible overnight from its uptown parking place. Seymour Kogon, of 59 Green Street, said his car was taken from its parking place on Pearl Street near Green Street. The vehicle was described as a red Ford with a white top and bearing license plate UC 9-988.

Rusk Thinks . . .

paring for forthcoming elections and on the other hand, inventing the story of the so-called proposals by Hanoi to negotiate to sow suspicion among public opinion.

The North Vietnamese declared the Johnson administration's desire for peace was "brazed and deceitful."

Rusk said he had the impression in recent weeks that the North Vietnamese were moving toward demands for the removal of U.S. forces from South Viet Nam as a precondition for peace.

Explains U.S. Policy

He explained U.S. policy this way: "We are prepared for discussions without conditions, without pre-conditions. But we are not going to promise in advance or at any time that we are going to give away the basic interests of the South Vietnamese people and South Viet Nam, and the interests of the U.S. when we go into such discussions. The other side is not going to do that."

He said that the problem is to find out whether peace is possible, given the attitudes, the interests and the commitments of the Communist and non-Communist sides.

Bothered by Accounts

Rusk conceded that the problem of Viet Nam had put a chill into U.S.-Soviet relations and he expressed hope that "Moscow will find a way to ease off on matters of this sort and not let the obviously difficult questions in Southeast Asia affect unduly the necessity for these two great powers to find some basis to get along with each other."

Rusk was obviously bothered by the news accounts of "peace feelers" which have appeared in a national magazine and in the press over the past 10 days.

He confirmed that in the fall of 1964 the United States received from Hanoi through the late Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson information that the Hanoi regime would be willing to make a contract with the United States. U. Thant suggested Rangoon, Burma, as a meeting place.

Noting that the maneuver — which he called "so-called peace feelers" — coincided with increased Communist infiltration into South Viet Nam, Rusk said "they undoubtedly felt they were on the threshold of victory."

He said that the United States was "far from convinced" a world arms conference would help the cause of disarmament. He said there was no evidence that Peking was prepared for serious arms talks.

Winds Cause Damage, Also Free Vessel

CAPE VINCENT, N. Y. (AP) — Winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour caused minor damage in this area today but also helped free a British freighter caught on rocks since last Tuesday.

A house trailer near Watertown was overturned, and falling trees and limbs felled some utility lines in the area.

The load of the freighter Halsworthy Beacon had been lightened by 800 tons of barley and oats, leaving about 7,000 tons. Tugs also helped pull the grain-carrier from its prison in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The 499-foot vessel anchored at Cape Vincent for inspection before proceeding to Montreal. Little damage was reported.

Hastings Man Killed In Upstate Mishap

HASTINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Robert Howie, 20, was killed early today in the collision of an automobile and a pickup truck near his home beside Route 11 in this community southeast of Oswego.

James Penoyer, 19, also of Hastings, and in the car with Howie, was reported in serious condition at St. Joseph's Hospital in Syracuse. Marion Louella Derocha, 54, of Mapleview, north of here, who was in the truck, was reported in good condition.

Route 11 was rain-slick when the accident occurred.

Rites Are Held For G. A. Draut, Newsman in Pa.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Funeral services were held Friday for George A. Draut, a veteran Pennsylvania newspaperman and recently appointed editor of the Atlantic City, N. J. Press.

Draut, 48, died Sunday at his home in Linwood, N.J. He left Harrisburg just three months ago.

Services were held in a funeral home in suburban Lemoine. Burial was in Camp Hill a nearby community.

The pallbearers were Pennsylvania Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, James R. Doran, editor of the Patriot and Evening News, Bern Sharfman, a fellow editorial writer at the Harrisburg papers, Paul Beers, an Evening news columnist; Robert Fowler, editor of the Civil War Times, and G. Richard Dew, executive director of the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors.

Before going to the Atlantic City Press, Draut was assistant editor and chief editorial writer at the Patriot and the Evening News, two Harrisburg newspapers. He spent 10 years at the newspapers.

Draut, a native of Texas, also was a syndicated column on politics while in Harrisburg.

U.S. Favors Delay On Nuclear Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — delegates have been puzzling over the new U.S. practice of voting for U.N. disarmament resolutions that the Americans have roundly criticized or warned they would not abide by.

The United States joined Friday night in the 86-0 vote in the General Assembly's main political committee for a resolution urging a moratorium on all nuclear weapons tests.

Before the ballot, however, William C. Foster, chief U.S. arms negotiator, said the United States will keep on conducting underground test until agreement is reached on a treaty containing provisions for on-site inspections.

Three days earlier in the same committee, the United States voted for a resolution calling for a world disarmament conference which would include Red China.

Shortly before that ballot, Foster threw cold water on prospects for a global parity. He said the United States would not commit itself to attend until convinced such a meeting would not be just another propaganda exercise.

Foster said the United States was "far from convinced" a world arms conference would help the cause of disarmament. He said there was no evidence that Peking was prepared for serious arms talks.

Jackson said the robbers quickly found him and forced him to lie on the floor.

Officers who arrived within minutes found all the doors locked. They broke in a door with a jack handle from a patrol car and found the bandits' guns — three six bank employees — in the room.

It was 6:42 p.m. before negotiations ended and the bandits emerged.

All three were taken to jail in Lubbock.

Authorities charged them with bank robbery. Bond was set at $50,000 for Garcia. The other two were denied bail.

The case of three teenage boys arrested after an early morning scuffle at Broadway and Union Streets was adjourned today in City Court for trial Dec. 20.

Continued in custody of their parents were James Adams Jr., 16, of 43 Syracuse Street; William J. Hayes Jr., 19, of 221 East Strand, and Edward J. Kinard Jr., 17, of 44 Tompkins Street, all charged with disorderly conduct. Adams is also charged with third degree assault on the private complaint of Raymond Girard.

The trio was taken into custody after police responded to a call at 3:10 a. m. at the lower Broadway location. Patrolman Curtis VanDemark and Weston Hoffman made the investigation.

In other court cases, three motorists paid fines of $10 each when they admitted separate traffic charges.

Henry Barmann, 64, of Box 163, Hurley, and Harold Dedrick, of Milton, admitted speeding charges, while Willie M. Williamson, 28, of Delray Beach, Fla., admitted a charge of failure to keep right. Williamson was involved in a traffic accident a week ago at the Albany Avenue interchange.

A third degree assault preferred by Barbara Roach against Wilbur Schleele, 28, of Box 131, Ulster Park, was dismissed.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 9:30 a. m. at the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, 176 Broadway, thence to St. Mary's Church, where at 10 a. m. a solemn requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday and Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

one of the hostages. "Actually, though, they were pretty nice to us — saw to it that we were fairly comfortable and brought us water to drink."

Mrs. Bartlett said a rifle carried by one of the bandits discharged accidentally in the back room where the women were held. The bullet gouged an inch-deep hole in the concrete floor.

Also held captive were Mrs. C. W. Surratt, 35, and Mrs. Ray Everett, 19. They were taken home and placed under sedation.

Nearly 100 peace officers and more than 500 spectators gathered in and around the bank while the drama unfolded in this cotton farming center. Idalou, a town of 2,000 people, is 12 miles northeast of Lubbock in West Texas.

It was 2:47 p.m. when three men strode into the bank and commanded a teller to fill a money sack with money. Charles Jackson, 40, the bank's vice president, was in the vault. Using the phone installed there for emergencies, he notified an operator who passed the word to police.

Jackson said the robbers quickly found him and forced him to lie on the floor.

PREFERS WEARING A LONG DRESS

Q: My husband and I are going to a dinner-dance at the country club next Saturday. We are going with four other couples and will have our own table. I would like very much to wear a long dress. The other women in the group are going to wear street-length cocktail dresses. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to wear a long dress even though the other women in our party will be wearing short ones.

A: If there will be other women at the dinner-dance wearing long dresses so that you will not be the only one so dressed, there is no reason why you may not wear one too if you wish even though those in your own immediate group will be wearing short ones.

Q: I am secretary to a man who travels a good deal. I often have occasion to write to him while he is away. I have been signing these papers Anne. I have been told that this signature is incorrect and much too familiar when writing to my employer. Will you please give me your opinion on this?

A: If Anne is what he always calls you, then it is quite all right to sign your name in this way. But if he calls you Miss Jones, you should sign your name Anne Jones.

Christmas Cards When in Mourning

Q: My mother passed away the latter part of August and I would like to know if it would be proper for me to send Christmas cards to my friends this year or would it be lacking in proper respect?

A: This is entirely a matter of your own personal feelings. If you yourself feel up to it, there is no reason why you may not send Christmas greetings to your friends.

Bid Rockefeller Up Drink Age to 21

HACKENSACK, N.J. (AP)—Two New Jersey state senators-elect urge New York State's Gov. Rockefeller to raise his state's minimum drinking age from 18 to 21.

In a letter to Rockefeller Friday, Democrats Ned J. Persick and Jeremiah F. O'Connor wrote that persons under 21 who drink liquor and then drive are "a very serious problem and New York cannot duck it."

A move to raise New York State's minimum age was defeated by the Legislature in the 1965 session.

Prospective Bride of Richard A. Styles

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Rielly of 242 Elmendorf Street, this city, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Carol, to Richard A. Styles of 26 Lucas Avenue, son of Mrs. Earl Hopkins and the late Mr. H. Styles.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by Montgomery Ward and Company.

Mr. Styles is an alumnus of Kingston High School and holds a BS degree from Syracuse University and has served two years with the U. S. Army. He is now employed as a surveyor by the New York State Conservation Department.

The wedding is set for December 18, 1965.

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

Many of you have been writing to me asking what to do about windows that accumulate moisture which drips during cold weather, when the heat is turned on.

The cheapest, most satisfactory way I have found, is to let a bit of moisture accumulate on your window until it becomes fogged up.

Then, take three or four facial tissues and wipe the inside of the window. Wipe it until it is streaked and partially dry, and, using the same facial tissue, apply a dab of liquid (undiluted) household detergent, such as we wash our dishes with, and wipe the window again.

This might leave it fuzzy for a second or two, but within minutes it will be clear.

If, a week or so later, the window becomes fogged up again, take plain, dry facial tissues and wipe them again.

The great thing about this is, not only can you see out (and believe me, I have tested it many times), but you wash your windows at the same time!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

As we love your hints, I am enclosing one of mine: When my children are helping to make their favorite roll and cut-out cookies — no need to re-roll the leftover dough. We just use the odd-shaped pieces for "imagination cookies."

The children have fun guessing what each cookie is — a country, state, animal, and what have you.

Mother

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Carry a few three-by-five-inch cards in your purse for ideas that would otherwise get away, such as shopping, places to go, things to see, friends to call, hobby information, etc.

Carry a magnet, magnifying glass, tape measure or steel rule.

Everywhere you go, you'll look like an expert, a nut, or a Heloise fan of some kind. But — you'll be an expert nut, and have a lot of fun, and be in good company. And, you'll be a better shopper.

A Reader

Dear Heloise:

If you teach the younger ones and heckle the older ones to always release the drain in the bathtub before starting to get out of the tub, there is less danger of drowning, should they fall or faint.

Hazel Dell

How, true, how true. A wonderful safety hint.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's what I do when I burn food in a stainless steel pan:

I use a plastic scraper to remove all I can of the burned material. Then I put a tablespoon of detergent in the pan, add boiling water, and let stand until the water is cool enough to put my hands into.

The remaining burned on food will be loose enough to scrape off easily.

I sponge the pan almost dry. Sprinkle generously with cleanser, and scour it with a cloth

Dear Heloise:

If you have an imitation pearl ring, earrings, etc., that is scratched or dull looking, just give the pearls a coat of white pearl nail polish, and they will look new and lovely.

This polish is also wonderful as a glue, when replacing imitation pearls in pieces of jewelry. I use regular, colorless polish as glue in replacing other stones in jewelry, and it doesn't discolor the stones, as certain types of glue are apt to.

Dear Abby . . .

He's Hungry For An Image!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What can I do with a husband who takes me often to a lovely restaurant, then hardly speaks to me the whole time. He is so busy trying to impress the cocktail waiters, waiters, and even strangers at nearby tables. He considers himself a gourmet and bon vivant (which he is not) and he tries so hard to appear important to those who serve us. You should hear him show off his high school French from 30 years ago! How can I let him know how foolish his actions are? To say nothing of his thoughtlessness in keeping busy people from their work, and annoying strangers who couldn't care less. I am too chagrined to sign my name. Just sign me.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Show me a man who's pompous in public and I'll show you a man who is nothing at home. Your husband is suffering from malnutrition of the ego, and should be treated at home, not in restaurants.

DEAR ABBY: I am so ashamed of my father, I could die. He has been married seven times, and divorced six! All of his ex-wives are living and I have so many half-sisters and brothers, I have lost count.

I went to a priest and confessed that I had been lying about my father, and telling people who didn't know better that my father was dead. The priest said he didn't blame me for lying, but I shouldn't lie any more about it. Now I keep having these horrible nightmares in which I see my father in a coffin with the lid nailed down, and him trying to get out. Please help me.

NIGHTMARES

DEAR NIGHTMARES: Your father's marital record is certainly nothing to brag about, but you are not responsible for your father's behavior. If someone asks about your father, tell them the truth. The chances are they will think you're kidding. Those nightmares are probably caused by your guilt-feelings from lying. Forgive yourself, and stick to the truth, and you'll be all right.

DEAR ABBY: Some 13 years ago my wife and I were selected to be godparents by friends who had their first child. We are without children and quite well off.

We have faithfully inquired about the child's progress and have cheerfully played the role of "generous godparents" on all occasions. Birthdays, Christmas, Easter — you name it, we've provided a gift. Now, would you believe it, Abby, we have NEVER seen the child since his birth. And we rarely see the parents. Our god-child has never shown the slightest bit of interest in us, and every effort we have made to become close to the parents has met with almost humiliating failure. Are we expecting too much? Or are we just a pair of old fools?

GODPARENTS

DEAR GODPARENTS: The official function of godparents is to rear the child in the religion of his parents should they both die while the child is a minor. All gifts should be voluntary. And anyone who feels like a "fool" for giving generously, and continues to give, is a bigger fool than he thinks he is.

DEAR ABBY: Like about 98 per cent of those who snore, I snore only when I am sleeping on my back. When we were first married, I was awakened by a very hard kick in the leg, and my wife yelling, "GET OFF YOUR BACK!" I honestly do not remember this, but my wife claims I shouted, "GET OFF MINE," and with that I kicked her so hard she flew out of bed and landed on the floor. I think I must have quit snoring because we've been married for 33 years and she hasn't complained since.

Talent Hunt Is Underway for Albany CP Show

Lewis A. Swyer and James K. Patrick, co-chairmen of the United Cerebral Palsy Telethon to be held on WTEN-TV on Dec. 18 and 19, have announced that the most concentrated search for talent is now under way.

"I can say without reservation," Swyer noted, "the telethon this year will be the biggest ever in entertainment and variety, both from a national and local talent level."

Funds raised during the telethon will be used to support the programs carried out by the Cerebral Palsy Association of the Capital District, Ulster County, Berkshire County, Schenectady County, Glens Falls, and the central Mohawk Valley.

Auditions for talent will be conducted by appointment only on Sunday, Dec. 5, at the Inn Tower Motor Hotel in Albany beginning at 2 p. m.

Appointments may be made by calling Monday through Friday or by stopping at Telethon Headquarters, 193 Sherman Street, Albany.

Lynda Bird Is In Acapulco for Weekend Respite

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson, the President's older daughter, began a three-day weekend vacation today in this tropical resort where a film festival is in full swing.

A Mexican Airlines spokesman reported her arrival in Acapulco Thursday night. The 21-year-old University of Texas senior flew from Texas in a twin-engine private Beechcraft with family friends.

It was reported that actor George Hamilton would be Lynda Bird's escort.

Hamilton was Lynda Bird's escort at the recent White House dinner-dance for Princess Margaret of Britain and her husband, Lord Snowdon. Hamilton was acting as the escort of the President's daughter and not as her date, it was emphasized.

Lynda Bird arrived in this Pacific Coast city amid the 8th world review of film festivals. She was accompanied by Secret Service agents and Mr. and Mrs. Earle Deather of Austin, Tex., old friends of the Johnson family.

Grabowski, Nobis Are No. 1 Picks in Pro Football Draft

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Some time ago we noted that Supreme Court Justice Harry E. (Dutch) Schirick was the only major league baseball player whose total career consisted of one at-bat.

Not so, we are informed. Justice Schirick has to share the distinction with Manager Walt Alston of the World Champion LA Dodgers. Seems Alston made one appearance at the plate for the 1943 St. Louis Cardinals.

Like the judge, Alston went 0 for 1. We're indebted to Herbert L. Shultz, a former newspaper man for updating the item.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Once past the holidays, we'd like to see some activity in behalf of a Kingston Tennis Association. N. Janen (Nick) Fowler of Kingston's best known tennis families is the man who do it. We'd suggest an independently operated club with the assistance and cooperation of the city recreation department.

Woodstock Country Club may be the galner if crack woman golfer Linda Smythe decided to affiliate in the area. She previously played out of Catskill Country Club.

Olympic boxer Buster Mathis headlines the card which returns boxing to Westchester County Center in White Plains Dec. 15 after a long absence.

Roudyism Must Stop:

Milton Miller of Soccer News composed an editorial in a recent issue deploring roudyism in the American Soccer League.

Noting that soccer brawls are a way of life in Europe and South America, editor Miller wrote:

"When two American Soccer League players take it upon themselves to spit at and threaten referees and a well known manager of a team has the bright notion to run onto a field, not once, but twice, then it's time to act."

American born editor Miller's alarm surprises us. He should know that when strong men get together in contact sports — and non-contact sports — roudyism is a fact of life. We've seen roudyism, brawls and roudyism in every major sport. All seem to have survived surprisingly well and so will soccer.

A Few Soccer Thoughts:

We do wish to raise a few points relating to soccer that Editor Miller might find pertinent enough to publicize in his trade magazine.

Sooner or later the people who proudly proclaim soccer as the "international sport" will have to Americanize to some extent, if they wish to attract the American spectator in volume.

The American sports fan lives by the statistics surrounding his folk heroes. But he also can be quite discerning. For example, if he pays his way through turnstiles, he likes to see numbers on the back of players. He likes to hear the lineup announced position by position. He likes to be kept informed via PA system of the technical aspects of the game. Watching 22 unidentified athletes romping for 90 minutes is hardly the American dish.

Soccer is shamefully remiss in these details. If they wish to keep soccer a club affair, they're doing a good job. If they wish to expand the popularity of soccer there is much to be done in the public relations field.

The Wrong Army:

University of Minnesota football coach Murray Warmath tells this one about himself:

"I had gone from Tennessee line coach to Army line coach to head coach at Mississippi State.

"You know, I get pretty excited in a ball game. In my last year a Mississippi State game opened the season against Tennessee.

"I was telling, 'Come on Army.' One of my players asked me what I said and I said, 'I mean come on, Confederate Army.'"

HERB McELRATH linked 211, 222, 191 for 624 high in the Men's Handicap League. Walt Vassilevich fired 203-557. STRONG POINTS—Wilt Chamberlain, 13, Philadelphia's 7-1 center, demonstrates his tremendous strength while scoring two points for the 76ers. With his good left arm, Wilt fends off Jim Washington, center and Bill Bridges of the St. Louis Hawks, then dunks the ball with the other hand.

Tommy Wade is 23 but he hasn't arrived yet. Ed Brown has arrived but he's 36.

And that's the dilemma facing the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Either the youngsters on the way up or the veterans on the way down will have to handle the quarterbacking Sunday for the Steelers, who could be the final hope for the teams chasing Cleveland in the Eastern Division of the National Football League.

The two teams meet at Pittsburgh with the Browns needing only one victory to clinch at least a tie for their second straight title. A Cleveland victory and defeats by New York and St. Louis would give the Browns the crown outright.

Off their first meeting, which the Browns won 24-19 on a touchdown with 44 seconds left to play, the game figures to be a struggle. But the Steelers will be without injured quarterback Bill Nelson, who took the first string job from Brown early in the season.

Both Brown and Wade alternated last week in a 31-3 loss to Washington.

Giants Face Bears

The Giants will try to stick in the race when they meet Chicago at New York and the Cardinals will attempt to do the same against Philadelphia at St. Louis.

In other games, Green Bay is at Los Angeles, San Francisco at Minnesota and Dallas at Washington. Baltimore and Detroit played to a 24-24 tie in Thanksgiving Day.

Only two American League games are scheduled, Boston at New York and Houston at Kansas City. San Diego and Buffalo played a 20-20 tie Thanksgiving Day while Oakland and Denver are not scheduled.

The Giants will have a tough time against the Bears, who have won six of their last seven behind rookie standout Gale Sayers and revitalized quarterback Rudy Bukich. Sayers needs one touchdown to tie the NFL record of 13 for a rookie.

The Cardinals have to face a Philadelphia team now getting solid passing from Norm Snead, and have a questionable quarterback situation of their own. Charley Johnson has been ailing and substitute Buddy Humphreys has been unable to move the club as well.

Chance for Packers
The Packers can move to within one-half game of the front-running Colts in the Western Division by downing the Rams. Green Bay won the first meeting 6-3 but the Packers offense showed signs of picking up in a 38-13 victory over Minnesota last week.

There are two interesting match-ups in the other games. Viking quarterback Fran Tarkenton and John Brodie of the 49ers figure to hook up in an aerial duel, and two of the leading pass receivers — Bobby Mitchell of the Redskins and Bob Hayes of the Cowboys — will be on view at Washington. The idle Bills can clinch a repeat Eastern Division title in the AFL if the Jets lose to Boston, New York, however, will be favored with quarterback Joe Namath continuing his rapid development.

The Patriots' offense has sputtered all season. Houston has been alternating veteran quarterback George Blanda and soph signal-caller Don Trull without much success. Kansas City, still in the Western Race, has been inconsistent on offense but has one of the league's strongest defenses.

Nicklaus Leads In Cajun Classic

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus, who in four years has become the monarch of professional golf, says his game has deteriorated. The other players in the Cajun Classic — the final PGA tourney of 1965 — don't agree with him.

Nicklaus carries a one-stroke lead into today's third round of the $32,000 tourney over Bert Weaver, winner of one tourney this year, and rookie Babe Hickey.

Just two strokes back were two former champions of the Cajun Classic — Miller Barber, last year's winner, and 1963 titlist Rex Baxter.

Masters Champ Nicklaus, the Ohio strongboy, fashioned a five-under par 67 Friday to go with his first day's 69 for a 36-hole score of 136 — eight strokes under par on the 6,555-yard Oakbourne Country Club course.

Barber and Baxter, who got their first victories on the PGA circuit here, had 66s Friday. Jim Ferree, who has won four tourneys in four nations but none in the United States, also matched the 66 for the day's lowest round. Ferree, who had a 75 the first day, showed a 36-hole score of 141.

Two other former Cajun Classic titlists also were in the running. Hometown heroes Jay Herbert and his brother Lionel, were in good positions after the second round. Jay had a 139 while trumpet-playing Lionel carded a 140.

The tourney ends Sunday. "I didn't drive well," said Nicklaus after Friday's round. "I only hit four fairways, but I had good iron shots and putted good."

"I want to take time off to work on my game," he said. "I won't play too much on the winter tour."

A Hunting Yarn With Fine Twist

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — The buck that got away from Don Manning was brought down by his friend Don Wheeler and Manning has the antlers to prove it.

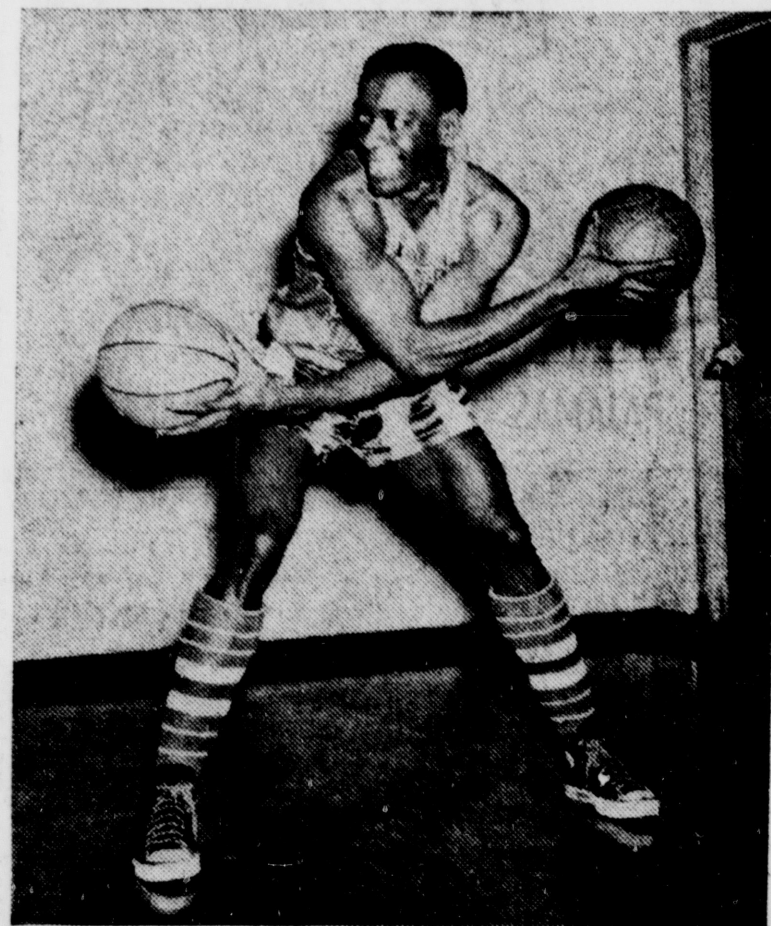

Their hunting yarn unfolded in a chat Friday when Wheeler was trying to find out why the 200-pound buck he had shot was missing part of its antlers.

Wheeler of Elmira, shot the large buck Thursday near Christian Hollow Road in Chemung County. He recalled Manning, also of Elmira saying previously that he had shot at and turned but failed to bring down last week one of the largest bucks he had ever seen.

Manning's shot had severed part of the buck's antlers. They were left behind when the buck dashed off. Manning picked them up and brought them home.

Wheeler called on Manning Friday mentioned his experience and Manning hauled out the antlers, which matched perfectly with the jagged section on antlers still on the buck. Wheeler had shot.

Manning gave the antlers to Wheeler who said he would try to find a way to attach them to the buck's head for display.

Wade Is Steeler Hope Against Browns Sunday

By DAVE BURGEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — The cop guarding the door to the Philadelphia dressing room in Madison Square Garden spryly ducked aside when Wilt Chamberlain charged in at halftime.

"Whew! Don't ever want to get in that man's way," said the special policeman, who weighed 80 pounds less than Chamberlain. "He may look tall and skinny, but let me tell you he's one big, strong man."

"Chamberlain reminds me of the story of the guy who mated a wild bull with a tiger," the cop went on. "The guy didn't know what to call it, but when it growled, he listened."

It's much the same in the National Basketball Association. When the goated 7fters' superstar so much as moves a muscle, somebody else twitches.

"Wilt can make it as easy or as tough on you as he wants," said Ray Scott, the Detroit Pistons' burly 6-9 center-forward. "Sure, he expects guys playing against him to play as hard as he does, and he respects you for it."

"But any guy who wants to play 'who's boss?' with Wilt had better forget it," Scott laughed. "He's so strong, so tough and so basketball-wise that he can bruise you up under the boards and make it look easy."

Chamberlain, it must be noted, has never fouled out of an NBA game.

Scott recalled a time he outmaneuvered Chamberlain beneath the bucket to snatch a rebound. Or so he thought.

"I was holding that ball just as tightly as I could, and Wilt reached over me and grabbed it away with one hand—just like that!" Scott said.

Did Scott learn anything from that experience?

"Yeah, I learned not to be surprised if it happens again."

The New York Knicks' 6-11 center, Walt Bellamy, no weakling himself, says Chamberlain's physical strength is his greatest asset in basketball, not his height, which is 7-1, nor his reach, which is way up there.

"There are a few players who can jump with Wilt," Bellamy said. "There's no one, though, who can outmuscle him for the ball, or consistently out-position him under the board, or impede dunk shot and his driving for the basket."

Bellamy claims that on "pure physical strength," Chamberlain is in a class by himself in the NBA. "The gap between Wilt and the next strongest player is a big one."

Jimmy Brown, the great and powerful Cleveland Browns fullback, one of Chamberlain's close friends, calls Wilt "the strongest athlete in the world, bar none."

Massive Wayne Embry of the Cincinnati Royals has said of Wilt: "He has muscles he doesn't even know about."

And so on.

Granted, Chamberlain is strong, but just how strong is he? Is it true he can clean and jerk 435 pounds; does he work out regularly with weights; does he agree with Brown that he's the strongest athlete in the world; has he ever met a man whose strength compares with his?

"Compare, compare," Chamberlain snapped back at the questions. "Man, why does somebody always want to compare me with something or someone?"

Wilt has said those questions come under what he calls the "green bit" and made it quite clear once again he's tired of answering them.

"You see me on the court. You know I can play ball. Everybody knows what I can do," he said. "As far as my strength goes, let's just say I'm strong and let it go at that."

Fine, Wilt. Anything you say, fella.

Fighting Irish May Vent Wrath On Miami Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Notre Dame winds up another close-but-no-cigar football season tonight with a bowl appearance against a team looking for a place in the Sun.

The Fighting Irish, whose national championship hopes were dashed last Saturday by mighty Michigan State, visit the Orange Bowl and suddenly-ambitious Miami.

Three games next Saturday — UCLA-Tennessee, Penn State-Maryland and Oklahoma State-Oklahoma — complete the regular schedule. Then the holiday bowl attractions take over.

Miami, which dropped four of its first six starts, has bounced back with three straight victories and is one of several schools being considered for the remaining berth in the Sun Bowl.

The Hurricanes, who spilled Sugar Bowl-bound Florida 16-13 last week, could get the bid with a solid performance against sixth-ranked Notre Dame.

Expect Comeback

The Irish, however, are two-touchdown favorites to pick up their strong ground game after the Michigan State debacle and finish with an 8-2 season mark.

Bill Wolski, Nick Eddy and Larry Conjar, stopped cold by the Spartans' huge forward wall, figure to find more running room against Miami.

Sophomore quarterback Bill Miller, whose next touchdown pass will equal the school season record of 10 held by George Mira, and rugged linebacker Ed Weissacsky pace the Hurricanes.

But four injured Miami regulars probably will sit out the game, which is expected to draw a near-capacity crowd in the 72,000-seat Orange Bowl.

The teams have met twice before, with Notre Dame winning 14-0 in 1955 and the Hurricanes taking the 1960 game 28-21.

Texas Western, which plays its home games in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., was named the host team Friday for that post-season game, leaving the other spot the only one left in the major bowl picture.

The Miners have won six of nine behind the passing of Bill Stevens.

Small Colleges

Four small college powers will be battling for berths in the NAIA Championship Bowl to night at Midland, Tex., and Bloomington, Minn.

The winners of the Sul Ross State, Tex.-Linfield, Ore., and St. John's, Minn., Fairmont, W.Va., games at Midland and Bloomington, respectively, will meet for the NAIA title Dec. 11 in Augusta, Ga.

Friday night Ferrum, Va., downed McCook, Neb., 16-0 in the National Junior College Bowl at Savannah, Ga.

Army and Navy staged their annual war at Philadelphia last afternoon while six bowl-bound teams concluded their regular-season schedules.

Fifth-ranked Alabama, Orange, tackled Auburn, Liberty, for the Southeastern Conference championship; ninth-ranked Tennessee, Bluebonnet, met Vanderbilt; Georgia Tech, Ga., played Georgia; Florida, Sugar, battled Florida State, and Mississippi, Liberty, took on Mississippi State.

Texas Christian, another Sun Bowl candidate, finished up against Southern Methodist.

Soccer Finals At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Trenton, N.J., State and Earlham College of Indiana play tonight in the finals of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics National Soccer Tournament.

In Friday's games Trenton blasted Quinnipiac College of Connecticut 5-0 and Earlham defeated Lincoln University of Pennsylvania 2-0.

Quinnipiac and Lincoln play for third place.

Southpaws Vie For PBA Title

DETROIT (AP) — Two left-handers were paired in today's final of the $65,000 sixth annual National Championship of the Professional Bowlers Association.

Jerry McCoy, of Fort Worth, Tex., and Dave Davis, of Phoenix, finished first and second, respectively, in the match play finals at Continental Lanes late Friday.

The two were to battle in a three-game rolloff for the nationally televised championship (NBC). They eliminated 22 other keglers in a series of round robin match games.

McCoy qualified for his shot at the final by leading the field and then by winning two vital position round games over Skeet Foremsky, El Paso, Tex.

Davis lost a first game to Tommy Tuttle of Rural Hall, N.C., 231-211, but then came back in the second game to win 210-180.

Davis' second victory, coupled with Foremsky's defeat, gave him the 50 bonus pins he needed to earn his way into the rolloff.

Foremsky finished third with a total of 13,826 pins, earning $3,000. Tuttle was fourth with 13,741 and $2,000, and Bob Collatos, of Santa Monica, Calif., was fifth with 13,615 and $1,800.

Spartan Booters Unlike Gridders

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP) — The Michigan State football team is tops in the nation but the hockey team is taking its knocks in New York State.

The Spartans lost Friday night to Clarkson, 6-3. Thursday night, the Michigan team was defeated by St. Lawrence, 5-3.

Clarkson's Fred Silver paced his team to victory with two goals. One of them capped a three-goal blitz by the New Yorkers in the second period.

Dick Bois and Don Heaphy scored for the Spartans.

Clarkson goalie Terry Yurkiewicz stopped 22 Michigan shots while Gayle Cooley blocked 34 Clarkson attempts.

The Spartans conclude their New York State tour tonight against St. Lawrence at Canton.

That Deal Made Bullets Better And Hurt Knicks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More and more it appears that the Baltimore Bullets got the better of the Walt Bellamy deal with the New York Knicks in the National Basketball Association.

The Bullets traded Bellamy to New York Nov. 1 for Johnny Egan, Johnny Green and Jim (Bad News) Barnes plus an undisclosed amount of cash. Since then the Bullets have won seven and lost eight games while the Knicks have won only three and lost 10.

Egan, Green and Barnes played important roles Friday night as the Bullets whipped the Los Angeles Lakers, the Western Division leaders, 110-107 while the Knicks bowed to Cincinnati 117-113.

The champion Boston Celtics, the Eastern Division leaders, won their fifth straight by crushing Detroit 134-114 and Philadelphia whipped San Francisco 132-120 in Friday's other NBA games.

Egan and Green played only 15 minutes in the Bullets' home court victory over the Lakers, but they got the key goals.

Green tapped in a rebound to break a 97-97 tie and later dribbled the length of the court for a basket to make it 102-99.

Los Angeles pulled to within 106-105 when Egan hit a 20-footer and made two free throws to clinch the victory. Barnes contributed 19 points. Kevin Loughery led Bullets scorers with 28 points while Jerry West paced the Lakers with 39.

New York took an early lead at Cincinnati with Bellamy getting 16 points, but the Royals rallied behind Oscar Robertson and won their eighth straight at home. The Big O threw in 30 points as did the Knicks' Willis Reed.

A three-point play by Boston's Larry Siegfried broke a 73-73 tie, and the Celtics rapidly pulled away from Detroit in their game at Providence, R.I. John Havlicek led the Celtics with 28 points. Ray Scott was high for the Pistons with 25.

Rookie Bill Cunningham sparked Philadelphia, coming off the bench in the second period and getting nine quick points to pull the 76ers to within one point, 57-56 at halftime. He got five more fast points at the start of the second half as Philadelphia took the lead to stay.

Wilt Chamberlain and Hal Greer got 25 points each for the 76ers. Cunningham finished with 24. Guy Rodgers led San Francisco with 37.

Los Angeles plays at Boston tonight in a battle of division leaders. Cincinnati is at New York, Baltimore at St. Louis and Philadelphia again at San Francisco.

Mayor Joining Army

ROCHELLE, Ga. (AP) — The mayor of Rochelle, John Allen Nobel, 28, has resigned to enter the Army after learning that it needed officers.

Nobel said Friday he will enter the infantry at Ft. Lewis, Wash., as a first lieutenant.

Nobel, unmarried, said he had signed for a two-year tour of duty.

LOOK FOR THE MOST IMPRESSIVE ONE IN A LITTER OF PUPS. HE'LL PUSH THE OTHERS AWAY FROM A PLATE OF FOOD AND KNOCK THEM ASIDE TO GET NEAR YOU. BEWARE OF THE SHY, SORROWFUL-LOOKING PUP; HE LACKS THE INITIATIVE NECESSARY TO BECOME AN OUTSTANDING HUNTING DOG.

A GLOSSY COAT AND SPARKLING EYES SIGNIFY GOOD HEALTH. GET PEDIGREED PUP WHEN POSSIBLE; COST OF RAISING HIM IS NO MORE THAN A NON-PEDIGREED.

New Paltz Methodist Church Notes

The services of worship of the New Paltz Methodist Church on Sunday, Nov. 28, will be held at 8:30 and 11 a. m. with the Communion Meditation by the Rev. Roy Hassell. The organists are Miss Karen Habrouck and Mrs. Kenneth Baumgartner.

The Seekers Class will meet in the Church Social Room at 2 p. m.

The Church Wide Study Class led by Mrs. Alvin Beatty will meet at 3 p. m. on Sunday, Nov. 28. The topic will be Mission, the Christian's Calling. The meeting will be held in the church office.

The Seeker's Class are now selling nuts, their annual fund raising event. Pecans can be had at the home of Mrs. Abel Quick at 20 Grave Street, and cashews, Brazils in heavy plastic bags may be had by contacting Mrs. John Christensen at 17 Wurtz Avenue.

Reformed Church Notes

The sermon topic at the New Paltz Reformed Church on the first Sunday of Advent, Nov. 28, will be And Lived Among Us. Care Nurseries are available in the Education Building.

Communicants Class

The Communicants Class will meet with the pastor on Saturday, Nov. 27 in the Social Room. This will be the closing session of their two-month term of religious instruction. The third and final term will be held just before Easter 1966, at which time those who satisfactorily complete the course will be given the privilege of joining the church.

Plan Game Night

The Junior-High Youth Fellowship of the Reformed Church will hold a Game Night in the Social Room on Sunday, Nov. 28, from seven to eight-thirty. Their leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Leland Bookhout.

Merger OK Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Commission says that United Natural Gas Co., Oil Cth, Pa., and Empire Gas and Fuel Co., Buffalo, N.Y., seek authority to merge.

The companies are subsidiaries of National Fuel Gas Co. of Buffalo.

If the merger is approved, United Natural would be surviving corporation and there would be no changes in services or rates, the commission said Friday.

Look for the most impressive one in a litter of pups. He'll push the others away from a plate of food and knock them aside to get near you. Beware of the shy, sorrowful-looking pup; he lacks the initiative necessary to become an outstanding hunting dog.

A glossy coat and sparkling eyes signify good health. Get pedigreed pup when possible; cost of raising him is no more than a non-pedigreed.

Be sure he's from good hunting stock. Watch his parents' hunt if you can before buying.

Motorists Pay Fines In Saugerties Court

Two motorists paid fines of $10 each Friday in Saugerties village police court when they admitted separate traffic charges.

Harvey R. Core, of Route 9W, Malden, admitted a charge of switching license plates on his car, preferred by Officer Harvey Vickery. Police Justice Michael E. Catalinotto dismissed a second charge against Core of driving an unregistered vehicle.

Gerald H. Liepschutz, of St. Remy, admitted a charge of passing a flashing red signal at his appearance before Justice David Goble. He was cited by Officer Donald Playford.

Several other persons paid fines for violation of the 3-7 a. m. parking restriction.

The original painting of "The Spirit of '76" is in Abbot Hall at Marblehead, Mass.

Castro Puts Cold Water on Idea of Better U.S. Ties

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's regime seems to be going out of its way to put down speculation that its anti-American attitude may be softening.

Such talk sprang up among foreign diplomats and even in some Cuban government circles as a result of announcement of the agreement under which U.S. planes will fly dissident Cubans into exile.

There was speculation that the agreement might lead to further contacts between the two governments.

Prime Minister Castro's reaction has been to blast the United States harder, than ever, while making it plain to the Russians that they can count on this island as a continued focal point of agitation in Latin America.

In a speech, Castro referred to his regime as "the irreconcilable enemy" of the United States.

"In reality, we don't want peace of any kind with imperialism. While imperialism exists and while there are people who are the victims of imperialist aggression, and while there are people struggling against imperialism, their cause will be our cause in whatever part of the world," he said.

Then, in Moscow, the Russians were assured that Cuba would continue to play its role of agitator.

The bearer of the assurance was Vilma Espin — wife of Raul Castro, head of the Cuban Women's Federation, and member of the Cuban Communist party's Central Committee.

She declared in a speech given in prominent attention in the press here:

"We know our role is difficult and hard, but we want to tell our Soviet friends that our revolution knows how to play its role in the revolution of new countries and in the defense of the Socialist camp."

She coupled that with an assurance that Soviet aid — amounting to about a million dollars a day — "is in good hands." She told the Russians that Cuba "is an example for the world."

"If small Cuba, 90 miles from North American imperialism, has been able to maintain its revolution, all nations can do so," she said.

Santa Switches—Breaks Ankle

PANAMA CITY, Fla., (AP) — Santa Claus forsook his reindeer and sleigh for a parachute — and broke an ankle.

About 1,000 persons watched as the bewhiskered Christmas patriarch sky-dived from 3,000 feet to a shooting center Friday. Then children's shouts of glee gave way to murmurs of dismay as Santa failed to get up.

Beneath the chute's billowing folds, Santa's trappings were removed and a fill-in Santa donned them.

The show went on, Santa No. 1 — Air Force Staff Sgt. Charles R. Barnes, 26 — went to a hospital.

Ulster CSEA Unit Hears Reports on Salary Schedule

County government and salaries were discussed at the November meeting of the Ulster County Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association, presided over by James P. Martin, president.

It was reported that Dutchess County recently paid $16,000 to Hanawalt Associates to make a study of salaries and county government. The report recommended sweeping changes in county government, computers for most departments and salary increases for most of the civil employees.

Survey Is Proposed
During a discussion it was noted that it is not necessary for Ulster County to pay $16,000 for a complete study of county government and salaries as the Municipal Service Division of the State Civil Service Commission would make a survey without cost.

The study would include job titles, grade classifications, qualifications for each job. The study would be made for the county at the request of the Board of Supervisors, it was reported.

It also was noted at the recent meeting of the CSEA that the Salary Committee of the unit has not received a report from the Board of Supervisors concerning the payment of the salary increase or increment and the longevity increment whenever a salary increase is given.

Group Awaits Action
According to reports at the meeting, the salary schedule approved by the Board of Supervisors in 1961 shows that it agreed that every civil employee be given the salary increase of $120 plus the longevity increase of $120, $240 each time the civil employee receives a pay increase.

It was noted that only a few receive this $240. The salary committee of the Board of Supervisors of which Clark Myers is chairman agreed to act on this matter, it was reported.

The chapter will hold a Christmas roast beef dinner at Elmer's Inn, Ruby, on Saturday, Dec. 11. Committee members are Dorothy Lacey, chairman; Leon Studd, Margaret Carle, George McDougal and Bertha Passer. Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from committee members.

Ordinance Will Bar Minors From Bar Jobs
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — All minors except musicians were barred from working in bars in an ordinance passed Friday by the Portland City Council.

It was the first legal step toward abolishing topless waitresses and go-go dancers in the city.

Next week, the council will consider an ordinance prohibiting any female person from appearing in a place "where there is offered for sale food or alcoholic beverage, for consumption on the premises, so costumed or dressed that one or both breasts are wholly or substantially exposed to public view."

The Restaurants of Oregon Association has objected to both ordinances.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

By Charles L. Culver, state veteran counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, and John B. Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, County Office Building. Office hours, Monday through Friday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

FHA Home Loans for Veterans—The FHA now has provisions in its basic home mortgage insurance program which make it possible for qualified veterans to buy homes for their own occupancy on special terms. Similar to the GI Home Loan Program, it is open to veterans who are not eligible under the GI program and to veterans who, though eligible, have not used their entitlement under that program.

Non-Service Disabled Veterans are cautioned that they can no longer deduct from reported income the full amount they have contributed to other pension or retirement plans when submitting their income questionnaires. Since January 1st of this year the amount from a pension or retirement fund that may be excluded as income limited to 10 per cent of the total amount contributed to the fund.

Widow's Income Limitations—A widow's income has no bearing on her eligibility for dependency and indemnity compensation payments if her veteran husband died of a condition attributable to service. However, income limitations do apply to VA death pension. This is an entirely different benefit which may be paid to the widow if a wartime veteran who died of a condition not attributable to service.

Service men's Group Life Insurance—Public Law 89-214 provides for service men's group life insurance. All correspondence concerning this program should be addressed as follows: Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey, 07102.

Signals Weak, French 'Moon' Still Orbiting
PARIS (AP) — France's first space satellite continued orbiting today, but its radio signals had all but died away.

Technicians said that the "beep-beep" signal from the A1 satellite could be heard from time to time, but that it was very feeble. Radio transmissions to indicate details on the orbiting also encountered trouble, they said.

Part of the trouble apparently was due to damage to the antennas during the launching. A three-stage rocket hurled the 92.5-pound space vehicle into orbit Friday from a launching pad at Hammaguir, Algeria.

Long-distance radar confirmed that the A1 had gone into orbit.

The Defense Ministry said the principal purpose of the shot was to test the launching rocket, called the Diamond.

President Charles de Gaulle said the successful launching "attests to the high value of French science and technique" and is "an important accomplishment of which the entire nation should be happy and proud."

The launching was the most dramatic demonstration of French technological development since France exploded its first A-bomb in the Sahara Feb. 13, 1960.

Members of the ACP development group include: Joseph Sauer, Victor McCord, Frank Sahler — ASC; William Palmer, Robert Guzewich — Extension Service; Thomas Gerlitz — FHA; S. G. Bascom — Forest Service; Warren McKeon — NYS Conservation Dept.; Doug Sarr — SCS; Gerow Smiley, Andrew Lehtonen, Charles Relyea and Arnold Banker — Soil Conservation District directors; C. Kenneth Taber — PCA.

Farmers will receive a copy of the Ulster County ASCS Handbook at a later date.

Father of 6 Is Held on Assault In Shooting Tiff
UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A father of six children today was charged with assault after a shooting argument with an older couple in which the husband died and the wife was wounded.

Police said Frank Occhuito, 39, of Utica, would be arraigned on a charge of first-degree assault in the death Friday night of Alex Asmer, 73.

Asmer's wife, Fatima, 60, is reported in good condition in St. Elizabeth's Hospital here.

Police said the argument took place Friday night in Asmer's apartment here, where they were called after a neighbor complained of noise.

Dr. Preston R. Clark, Oneida County coroner, said Asmer's wound "did not appear to be serious enough to have caused his death." He said Asmer could have died of a heart attack. An autopsy was planned today.

Lindsay Names Crime Committee
NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay has announced appointment of a nine-man evaluation committee to coordinate his anticrime program.

The committee, named at Lindsay's headquarters Friday will be headed by Lawrence E. Walsh, a former federal judge and one-time Deputy U. S. Attorney General.

No date was set for the committee report.

Mayor Patches Street
NASHVILLE, Tenn., (AP) — Mayor Beverly Briley put his best shovel forward Friday.

Briley took time out from City Hall duties to personally patch a hole in a city street. Some harassed motorists had posted a sign a week ago at the spot, stating: "Go easy; Briley will fill this hole when he gets around to it."

Briley noted that he can't fill all the holes himself, "but this one I'm going to get around to personally."

Police Seek Vandals For Downtown Damage
Police continued their investigation today into the smashing of several windows overnight in the lower Broadway area.

They received numerous calls about 12:25 a. m. that three or four teenagers were smashing windows on Broadway near Mill Street. Investigation revealed at least six windows smashed at the B&F Market, 32 Broadway at the corner of Mill; Cooper's former store at 40-42 Broadway; Singer's, 58 Broadway, and the Apache Club, 74-74 1/2 Broadway.

Police said that one of the smashed fixtures was a 10-by-five-foot pane of glass at Cooper's.

Detective William Slover investigated with Patrolman Curtis Van Demark and Weston Hoffay.

No Canal Priority
ST. CATHERINES, Ont. (AP) — Ocean ships under pressure to clear the St. Lawrence Seaway before the Dec. 3 closing date will not be given priority through the Welland Canal, a Seaway official says.

The spokesman said Friday that, "there is no such thing as priority on the canal."

Prisoner Takes Life
BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—A prisoner serving a 60-day sentence on an assault conviction was found hanging in his cell at the Genesee County Jail in Batavia, says Sheriff Frank L. Gavel.

Gavel said the body of Charles Hoosier, 31, of Buffalo, was discovered at 5:50 p. m. Friday, about 10 minutes after he had been chatting with a fellow prisoner.

Gavel said Hoosier used his own belt to hang himself.

The sheriff said he expected a "certificate of suicide" would be issued in Hoosier's death.

Hoosier was given the jail sentence Wednesday after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of third-degree assault in an appearance before Peace Justice E. Harry Miller in the Town of Batavia.

Hoosier had been accused of stabbing a woman on a bus bound from Holley, in Orleans County, to Buffalo. Hoosier and the woman were among 35 employees of a Holley cannery bus headed for Buffalo on the bus.

Woman (at political meeting) — I'm not prejudiced at all. I'm here with a perfectly open and unbiased mind to listen to what I am convinced is pure rubbish.

It's hard to figure out why a girl thinks a man is rude and vulgar when he stares at what she's trying so hard to display.

Language may be a vehicle of thought, but in some cases it is just an empty wagon.

An aging gent took advantage of media science and had some monkey glands put into him. A short while later, he was married to a lovely young lady.

In due course, his young wife sped to the maternity ward of a nearby hospital and he joined the pacing fathers-to-be in the waiting room. Finally his doctor came out, and the elderly gent rushed up to him.

Business Week in Review

By PHILIP J. KEUPER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Record

automobile sales, a renewed rise in steel production and bulging store sales made economic trimmings during the week that were fatter than the Thanksgiving turkey.

Automakers, having another banner year, reported soaring sales for mid-November. General Motors said its sales from Nov. 11-20 jumped 66 per cent over the same period a year ago when the nation's No. 1 auto producer was still feeling the effects of a strike.

Chrysler's midmonth sales rose 8 per cent and Ford's 6 per cent, both records for the period.

Record Yule Profits

A Commerce Department survey showed more Americans planning to buy cars and household goods such as appliances and television sets in the coming months. One reason: Almost 27 per cent of those sampled said they expected their family income to rise.

Big chain stores checked in with record profits, with the Christmas buying rush still to come. Sears, Roebuck and J. C. Penney posted peak earnings for the July-September quarter and first nine months.

Corporations continued to check in with a steady stream of higher dividends, distributing cash to stockholders in record amounts. Stock split proposals, too, continued plentiful.

Steel production rose for the second straight week, giving strong evidence that the falloff in orders since September's labor settlement may be ending. Mills poured 2.08 million tons during the week, a 2.7 per cent rise over the previous week.

But the problems of prices and wages and government concern over inflation continued to temper the enthusiasm of the business community — still reacting to administration price rollbacks in aluminum and copper.

Steady Price Is Aim

The government is using its $8.1-billion stockpile of key commodities to keep prices of these raw materials steady. Both aluminum and copper producers cut back price rises in these metals recently after the administration announced plans to sell metal from the stockpile.

With much less fanfare, Washington has been selling lead, tin and zinc this year to keep prices of these limited-supply metals from soaring.

The administration, meanwhile, put the finishing touches on its moves in aluminum and copper. Agreement was reached with aluminum producers for disposal of 1.4 million tons of surplus aluminum over several years. The government told copper producers that it would restrict exports of copper scrap next year to less than half this year's total to check movement of the metal out of the country.

SUNY to Accept Bids For Oneonta Work

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State University Construction Fund is accepting bids on contracts totaling $2.3 million for construction of 19 classrooms and a general services building at the State University at Oneonta.

The services building, to be ready next September, will include a kitchen, warehouse and maintenance shops.

A language laboratory and four seminar rooms are included in plans for the classroom building, which is to be completed by September 1967.

3,000 Scheduled To Start Strike Schenectady GE

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Officials of Local 301 of the International Union of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO) say more than 3,000 workers will begin a week-long strike Monday at General Electric's Large Steam Turbine plant here.

The proposed strike would be the ninth in recent months at the Schenectady GE plant.

The local's executive board voted unanimously Friday to call the 3,500 employees out on strike because of what it termed "fear tactics and unbearable harassment" by management in the department.

H. K. Parker, manager of employee relations and utilities for GE, said the company recognizes the union's right to strike but "we simply cannot live with situations where employees are giving as little as half a day's effort for a fully day's pay."

Wood has been used as a building material by man from time immemorial.

to higher-priced markets

Banker Disturbed

Businessmen generally were reluctant to talk about their feelings on the government price moves, but banker David Rockefeller said he was disturbed by the rollback of aluminum prices. Rockefeller said he felt "the aluminum industry was the best judge of whether prices should go up," and added that he was "in disagreement with the government that prices should be controlled."

Morgan Guaranty Trust, in a monthly survey, said the aluminum price issue probably wouldn't hit business as hard as the 1962 steel price rollback because today's economy is stronger. The bank's economists cited a 2.3 per cent unemployment rate among married men — lowest in almost a decade — a reported shortage of skilled workers in many parts of the country; a rise in the Federal Reserve's index of industrial production and an anticipated spurt in corporate spending for plants and equipment.

The Labor Department said during the week that wage increases for two million workers in the first nine months of the year averaged 4.2 per cent.

The government maintained that this did not break the administration's 3.2 per cent, anti-inflationary, wage-price guidelines because the wage increases reflected only first-year increases. In later years of some labor contracts negotiated, increases either are smaller or nonexistent, said the government.

Saugerties Youth Faces 2 Charges After Car Mishap

A Saugerties motorist was arrested for two traffic violations and his passenger was hospitalized in a two-car accident about 12:10 a. m. today at the intersection of Routes 28 and 375, West Hurley.

State police at the Lake Katrine substation cited Jurgen Blank, 18, Route 4, for driving while intoxicated and driving with no inspection certificate.

Charles James, 20, of Fisher's Apartments, Saugerties, a passenger in his car, was taken to Kingston Hospital where he was treated for a back injury. He was reported in fair condition.

Troopers said that Michael Pugliese, 44, of 7312-150th Street, Flushing, was driving west on Route 28 when his car was in collision with one operated by Blank, which was making a turn at the intersection.

Troopers David Wachtel and Jerry Davis investigated.

Safety Play May Assure Contract

BY JACOB V. SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is another safety play from the new Kay-Silodor-Karpin book on duplicate bridge. South wins the first heart and plays ace and jack of diamonds. West plays the queen on the jack. You can make an extra trick if East holds the ten of diamonds and you play the king from dummy but if West holds the ten-spot, your play of the king tosses your contract into the ash can.

Their advice, to which we subscribe heartily, is to play safe. Make sure of your contract. Some team may not be in game. Others may be in five or six diamonds. By making sure of ten tricks at no trump you beat all part scores and all diamond contracts, and if diamonds do divide 3-1 you will have tied for top.

Now for a little speculation with this hand. Suppose that both opponents follow to the first diamond and that West

Beautiful Modern Home Has Four Large Bedrooms

By JACK McLENEY

Large rooms in both living and sleeping quarters of Associated Architects' new house plan make this home worth your careful consideration.

The design of "The Thorpe" is 1½-story modern. But that's only part of the picture. You are offered four comfortable bedrooms, a living room in which you'd be proud to entertain your friends, plus a breezeway and garage that give the house a most impressive length—over 68 feet. The overall width is 29½ feet.

Before I go any further I want to point out a cost saving factor inherent in the plan for "The Thorpe." By omitting the breezeway and garage when the house goes up initially you may save this first cost of construction. These may be built at a later date, perhaps by the owner himself.

Now to a glimpse of the interior. A vestibule just inside the front door is designed to reduce or ward off drafts and windy gusts.

Vassar Student Remains Critical After 299 Crash

An 18-year-old Vassar College student, who was injured Thursday night in a two-car head-on collision on Route 299 near Route 9W at Highland, remained in a critical condition today at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Miss Beverly E. Neely, of Oakland, Calif., was a passenger in a car driven by Herbert Green, 24, of Baxtertown Road, Fishkill, who was killed in the crash. Frank M. Currie, 21, of 25 Grand Street, Highland, operator of the other vehicle, also was killed.

Miss Neely suffered a fractured skull, multiple fractures of the face and other injuries.

Airman Richard Anderson, 21, of 39 Falkirk Avenue, Poughkeepsie, a passenger in Green's car, was reported somewhat improved at St. Francis Hospital.

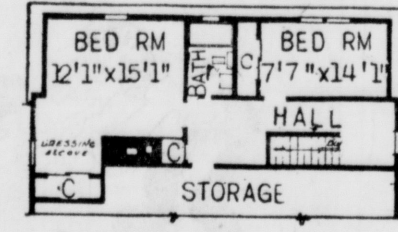

Two passengers in Currie's car also were reported improving at Vassar Hospital. They are James Dell Vechia, 21, of Highland, who suffered a cerebral concussion and other injuries and Anthony Barraco, 21, of Box 17, Clintondale, who received chest and other injuries.

Coroner William S. Keyser, who investigated with Highland State Police, ruled both deaths were accidental. He said the two youths died of fractured skulls and lacerated brain.

To separate the dining area from the living room, Associated Architects have included a semi-open screen, allowing the width of a doorway as the entry. In the compact dining area, space is provided for full dinette furniture, plus an efficient U-shaped kitchen fully equipped for food preparation.

A full bath, centrally located between the downstairs bedrooms, is just as convenient to the balance of first-floor rooms. Similarly, the second-story bath is accessible from the second-floor bedrooms.

All of the bedrooms have spacious closets. In addition there are extra closets for linen (on both floors) as well as for other storage space available in front of the hallway. Should more storage be required, there is the basement, for this plan comes with basement only.

The blueprints, by the way, may be obtained at reasonable cost by sending along the accompanying coupon. With your plans you'll receive, at no extra cost, a suggested specification form to help protect your financial investment.

The living area of this striking home is 1,130 square feet for the first floor and 650 square feet for the second floor, for a total of 1,780 square feet. The breezeway and garage are another 380 square feet.

The accompanying artist's sketch shows "The Thorpe" as a home built of wood siding. Your plans also tell how to use brick veneer or concrete block, both fine building materials.

Buy Quality, Not Quantity

It's always wisest to think in terms of quality, not quantity. This is especially true when you buy paint. Check before you buy. Your best paint bargain is a quality paint, made with quality raw materials, manufactured by reputable companies and sold through reliable dealers. Quality paint is always a bargain at the regular price.

Decorate With Enamel

That old-fashioned wooden coat rack in the attic—or one you'll find in a secondhand shop—can be beautiful with a coat of enamel. With its bright shiny surface, it can be used as a silent valet in a bedroom or as a unique towel pole in the bathroom.
